All,

While I can appreciate your efforts to consider functions that might improve the overall experience, I have some concerns about expanding personal data collection, particularly biometric.

I do not believe that anyone that uses that info today would utilize it in immoral ways as it's a small compromise in personal security, but I do have long term concerns about the reality that someone at some point may.

So I oppose this direction personally.

Thanks for the careful consideration about improvements.

Eric
