Find that the newly proposed TSA collection procedures proposed as part of the required 10 year PRA change are not appropriate for a number of reasons:

First the PRA is about REDUCING burden not increasing collection information;

Second all branches and contractors have continuously failed to keep PII information secure and most certainly these critical last pieces of personal data will be released for bad actors, and possibly AI to retrieve, store and replicate for illegal and immoral purposes. Once DNA information is accessible one has no repercussions to clear this form of identity theft; and Third, the purpose of this collection for all citizens utilizing this screening that has worked successfully in the past does not support this additional measure to monitor criminals. The database for current perpetrator's should be sufficient for continuous monitoring and there are many other methods available to law enforcement to monitor suspected criminals.
