General Comment

Please do your best to protect all the Migratory Birds and the other animals out there. People don't need to kill the animals, and they don't need to eat them either. People have a lot of food and clothing options today, so there is no need for anybody to be going after animals. Animals have enough to worry about with simply surviving day after day without people trying to kill them. Animals should not be used for handicrafts or any such items. All animals are precious just like these Migratory Birds and they all deserve protection from harassment and from getting killed. Please protect these animals from destruction.
