Application for Citizenship and Issuance of Certificate Under Section 322 (N-600K)	N-600K, Application for Citizenship and Issuance of Certificate Under Section 322				The Application for Citizenship and Issuance of Certificate Under Section 322 (N-600K) is used to obtain a Certificate of Citizenship for a U.S. citizen child who regularly resides outside of the United States. Learn more about applying for Citizenship and Issuance of Certificate.	Use this form to request U.S. citizenship and issuance of a Certificate of Citizenship under the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA) section 322 for a child who resides outside of the United States in the legal and physical custody of a U.S. citizen parent. Only a U.S. citizen parent, a U.S. citizen grandparent, or a U.S. citizen legal guardian may file this application on behalf of an eligible foreign-born child.
Before you start your application	Before You Start Your Application	Eligibility			A child may obtain U.S. citizenship if he or she meets all the following criteria to be eligible for citizenship under INA section 322: 1. The child is not married; 2. USCIS must administer the Oath of Allegiance to the child before reaching 18 years of age; 3. The child regularly resides outside the United States; 4. In the legal and physical custody of the U.S. citizen parent; 5. The child's U.S. citizen parent has been physically present in the United States for a period or periods totaling at least five years, at least two of which were after 14 years of age. If the U.S. citizen parent does not meet this requirement, the U.S. citizen parent's own U.S. citizen parent (grandparent) has to have been physically present in the United States for a period or periods totaling at least five years, at least two of which were after 14 years of age. In cases where the U.S. citizen parent died in the preceding five years, and the N-600K has been properly filed on behalf of the child by the U.S. citizen grandparent or by the U.S. citizen legal guardian, the child does NOT have to be residing in the legal and physical custody of the person as long as the person who has legal and physical custody of the child does not object to the N-600K; and 6. The child is temporarily present in the United States at the time of interview in a lawful status pursuant to a lawful admission.	Note: You must meet all requirements, provide all documentation, and the child must appear before USCIS for an interview and take the Oath of Allegiance (if applicable) before the child turns 18 years of age. A child may obtain U.S. citizenship if they meet all the following criteria to be eligible for citizenship under INA section 322: 1. The child is under 18 years of age and not married; 2. The child must remain under 18 years of age and unmarried throughout the application process, including the administration of the Oath of Allegiance; 3. The child has one of the following relationships to a U.S. citizen parent: • The biological child of a U.S. citizen parent who is also their legal parent. If the U.S. citizen parent is the child's biological father, you will generally have to establish that the child was born in wedlock or legitimated; • The child of a non-genetic gestational U.S. citizen parent (person who carried and gave birth to the child) who is also the child's legal parent; • The child of a U.S. citizen parent who was married to the child's genetic or gestational parent at the time of the child's birth (even if no genetic or gestational relationship exists with the U.S. citizen parent) and both of the child's parents are also the child's legal parents; or • The adopted child of a U.S. citizen parent. You must have a full, final, and complete adoption and meet the requirements of one of the following provisions for adoption-based immigration: Hague Adoption Convention, including having an approved Form I-800; orphan, including having an approved Form I-600; or family-based adoption, including having an adoption before age 16 (or age 18 if the sibling exception at INA 101(b)(1)(E)(ii) applies), and two years of legal custody and joint residence with the adoptive parent. Note: Stepchildren are not eligible for citizenship through a U.S. citizen stepparent, unless the U.S. citizen stepparent adopted the stepchild and the stepchild meets the requirements applicable to adopted children. 4. The child resides outside the United States;
			[Eligibility continued]			5. The child is in the legal and physical custody of the U.S. citizen parent; Note: In cases where the U.S. citizen parent died in the last five years, the child does NOT have to be residing in the legal and physical custody of the person filing the application, as long as the person who has legal and physical custody of the child does not object to the Form N-600K. 6. The child's U.S. citizen parent has been physically present in the United States for a period or periods totaling at least five years, at least two of which were after 14 years of age. If the U.S. citizen parent does not meet this requirement, the U.S. citizen parent's own U.S. citizen parent (the child's grandparent) has to have been physically present in the United States for a period or periods totaling at least five years, at least two of which were after 14 years of age; and 7. The child is temporarily present in the United States at the time of approval of the application in a lawful status pursuant to a lawful admission. Note: It is the responsibility of the individual seeking the child's Certificate of Citizenship under INA section 322 to secure any visa necessary for lawful admission to the United States.
		Fee			We will automatically calculate the cost for you before you submit your application. For specific information about fees applicable to this form, see Form G-1055. Fee waiver: If you are requesting a fee waiver, you cannot file online. You must file a paper version of both the Form I-912, Request for Fee Waiver and the form for the specific benefit you are requesting. You can review the fee waiver guidance at www.uscis.gov/feewaiver. Refund policy: USCIS does not refund fees, regardless of any action we take on your application, petition, or request, or how long USCIS takes to reach a decision. By continuing this transaction, you acknowledge that you must submit fees in the exact amount and that you are paying the fees for a government service. 	Child's proof of lawful admission and maintenance of lawful status					Child's proof of lawful admission and maintenance of lawful status	Child's Proof of Lawful Admission and Maintenance of Lawful Status	Form N-600K instructions, "What Evidence Must You Submit?" - page 10		Upload		Form I-94, Arrival-Departure Record, is required, if available, at the time of interview for all children seeking citizenship under INA section 322, except for eligible children of members of the U.S. Armed Forces. If U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) or USCIS issued Form I-94, Arrival-Departure Record to the child, provide Form I-94 number and the date that the child's authorized period of stay expires or expired (as shown on Form I-94). The Form I-94 number also is known as the Departure Number on some versions of Form I-94. If the child does not have an I-94 number, one of the following scenarios may apply: • If CBP or USCIS issued Form I-94 to the child, but it is now lost or destroyed, he or she may apply for a replacement by filing Form I-102, Application for Replacement/Initial Nonimmigrant Arrival-Departure Document. • If CBP or USCIS did not issue Form I-94 to the child and he or she believes that Form I-94 should have been issued, the person filing this form may contact the agency that should have issued it to attempt to resolve the matter. • If CBP did not issue Form I-94 to the child because it captured arrival information electronically, type or print "N/A" in the fields that request an I-94 Arrival-Departure Record Number. In this instance, it is important for the child to provide a passport or travel document number where it is requested on the application. (See below.) Note: If the child was admitted to the United States by CBP at an airport or seaport after April 30, 2013, he or she may have been issued an electronic Form I-94 by CBP, instead of a paper Form I-94. You may visit the CPB website at www.cbp.gov/i94 to obtain a paper version of an electronic Form I-94. CBP does not charge a fee for this service. Some travelers admitted to the United States at a land border, airport, or seaport, after April 30, 2013 with a passport or travel document, who were issued a paper Form I-94 by CBP, may also be able to obtain a replacement Form I-94 from the CBP website without charge. If you cannot obtain your Form I-94 from the CBP website, you may obtain it by filing Form I-102, Application for Replacement/Initial Nonimmigrant Arrival-Departure Record, with USCIS. USCIS does charge a fee for this service. See the USCIS website at www.uscis.gov/i-102 for more information.	Note: If you are not in the United States when filing this form, do not upload the following evidence. Form I-94, Arrival-Departure Record, is required, if available, at the time of interview for all children seeking citizenship under INA section 322, except for eligible children of members of the U.S. Armed Forces. If U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) or USCIS issued Form I-94, Arrival-Departure Record to the child, provide Form I-94 number and the date that the child's authorized period of stay expires or expired (as shown on Form I-94). The Form I-94 number also is known as the Departure Number on some versions of Form I-94. If the child does not have an I-94 number, one of the following scenarios may apply: • If CBP or USCIS issued Form I-94 to the child, but it is now lost or destroyed, he or she may apply for a replacement by filing Form I-102, Application for Replacement/Initial Nonimmigrant Arrival-Departure Document. • If CBP or USCIS did not issue Form I-94 to the child and he or she believes that Form I-94 should have been issued, the person filing this form may contact the agency that should have issued it to attempt to resolve the matter. • If CBP did not issue Form I-94 to the child because it captured arrival information electronically, type or print "N/A" in the fields that request an I-94 Arrival-Departure Record Number. 				Yellow alert	[delete]	If 2.15, Yes (Was there any prior application for citizenship or for a U.S. Passport?)	[delete]	[YELLOW ALERT:] [HEADER:] The child may not be eligible to file an Application for Citizenship and Issuance of Certificate Under Section 322 (N-600K) [BODY:] If an Application for Citizenship and Issuance of Certificate under INA 322 (N-600K) was previously filed on behalf of the child, and the child received a decision from USCIS, you should not file this application again. USCIS will reject any newly filed Application for Citizenship and Issuance of Certificate (N-600K). If USCIS denied your prior Application for Citizenship and Issuance of Certificate, you may be eligible to appeal that decision using the Notice of Appeal or Motion (Form I-290B). If the time for appeal has expired, you should submit a motion to reopen or reconsider using Form I-290B. Review your decision notice for more information. If you are seeking to replace a lost or stolen certificate, you should submit the Application for Replacement Naturalization/Citizenship Document (Form N-565). If you have previously filed a passport application on behalf of the child, note that the child is not eligible for issuance of a Certificate of Citizenship under INA 322 if he or she has a valid, unexpired U.S. passport.
