

Welcome to the SAMHSA Disaster Technical Assistance Center

In cooperation with the States/Territories, SAMHSA DTAC developed the materials that include materials relevant to disaster mental health outreach programs. These materials were developed under contract to and in collaboration with ESDRB/CMHS, along with other materials obtained from current and completed crisis counseling publications, and materials developed by and for the States. Many of these materials are already in use in States and Territories. This CD-ROM serves as a central repository of information, including Grant Application Materials, Data Reporting Materials, Training Guidance Materials, CCP Program Guidance; quality Outreach Program Management materials, such as brochures, pamphlets, and fact sheets; and Online Resources. The CCP Data Collection Toolkit is available on a separate CD-ROM.

Outreach Materials are provided to the States/Territories as easy-to-use, print-ready and reproducible electronic templates. Materials have been compiled on a CD-ROM but not limited to children, older adults, general audiences, and first responders. Materials and slide presentations are formatted in Microsoft Word/PowerPoint/Perfect/Presentations. In some cases, the conversion from PowerPoint to PDF (the non-essential graphics being lost). Please note that depending on the user's system, the files provided in the files should be carefully reviewed and tailored before printing. A large number of files are provided in Adobe® PDF® format and may be opened in Adobe Reader.

Accessing files from the CD-ROM

(This document, welcome.doc, is available as a Word document in the root directory of the CD-ROM.)

The Table of Contents on the left is the user's guide for assistance in identifying files on this CD-ROM. Icons also are provided in a legend to help the user identify individual files.

In order to access the files on the CD-ROM, the user will need to use a computer (for example, the C: drive). Once there the user will view the direct Table of Contents.

One way to access the files is to:

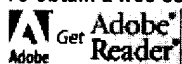

- Enter the "My Computer" folder by either double clicking on "My Computer" or clicking on "start" and then clicking on "My Computer."
- Then be sure to highlight the CD drive icon in the user's "My Computer" window.
- Right mouse click on the icon and choose "Explore."

Inside each of the directories are files pertaining to the section of the CD-ROM.

The user may navigate through the files by clicking on the applicable folder from the left hand side of the table. The files in that directory will be displayed in the right hand column.

To use a file double click on the file name and it will open. To edit the file...

V. Outreach Materials

How to Use the Public Educational Outreach Materials

Outreach, as it is used in the Crisis Counseling Program (CCP), is one of the methods for delivering crisis counseling services to disaster survivors. Public materials are distributed to individuals and community groups and target populations such as children, older adults, general audiences, farmers and ranchers. The content of some of the materials also is phase-related to address specific disaster recovery including such needs as coping with holidays or the disaster and preparing the community for program closure.

Many of these public educational materials were developed by State crisis grant programs funded by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) and Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA). Innovative brochures, flyers, and pamphlets are a sampling of materials submitted by State grantees in quarterly and final reports.

Outreach materials are categorized by target population or disaster phase. They are formatted in MS Word and Corel WordPerfect, quick, user-friendly to the user to save the materials for immediate use and modification. Users are encouraged to review carefully the sample materials prior to "customizing" individual program needs and disaster type. For example, MS Word and Corel allows the user to easily delete/insert individual project name/logos and headers. The user is responsible for the final product including putting the files through review and clearance processes for the individual State/Territory.

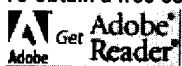

Although these materials are in the public domain and may be duplicated for State and local programs, materials should be referenced accordingly and author/development, where provided, should receive appropriate attribution to the agency. For further information, please contact SAMHSA DTAC at 1-800-458-5231 or e-mail the TA staff at DTAC@esi-dc.com.
