OFFICE OF THE DIRECTOR

July 10, 2007

Dear Resident:

Several weeks ago, the U.S. Census Bureau sent you a questionnaire and requested your participation in the 2007 Census Bilingual Form Study. We are conducting this test to help develop new methods that will make the 2010 Census easier, more convenient, and less costly for taxpayers. As stated below, U.S. law requires households to respond. If you have not yet responded, we encourage you to do so immediately.

It is important that each household respond only once. If you have already provided your census information, we thank you—there is no need to provide it again.

Your answers are required and confidential by law (Title 13, United States Code, Sections 9, 141, 193, and 214). This law protects your privacy and requires that you provide the information requested. Only persons sworn to protect Census Bureau data will have access to the information you provide—and no one else. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Charles Louis Kincannon
Director, U.S. Census Bureau
