

YOUR INFORMATION IS CONFIDENTIAL

The U.S. Census Bureau is testing a new method for updating its address lists for facilities that may contain independent living housing units. We will use this information to ensure that these types of units will be more accurately represented in future censuses and surveys.

Information you provide will be kept confidential and used for statistical purposes only, as required by Title 13, United States Code, Section 9. The Census Bureau cannot publish or release information that would identify any individual. The Congress has imposed criminal sanctions (up to five years imprisonment and/or up to $250,000 fine) if any person sworn to uphold the confidentiality of your information violates the provisions of Title 13.

Thank you for your help and cooperation. The Census Bureau relies on your participation, so we can provide your community with the information it needs to plan and make choices.
