cancer screening "survey"

another "survey". the people in the program who work with it every day should be able to tell us all we need to know about this program. many women do not want to endure x rays, etc. i think the program for women who want the screening is a good idea. i think this survey is unnecessary and a waste of taxpayer dollars.does someone in cdc just sit there and come up with ways to spend more taxpayer dollars day after day after day? the programs that ar ein place are being cut because of the budget is spending quadrillions more than it is taking in. isn't it time to cut the time spent thinking of new programs and new ways to spend the taxpayer dollars that are causing americans to have to work 3 jobs to pay their taxes?
