

NATIONAL COMMUNITY CENTERS OF EXCELLENCE
(CCOE) IN WOMEN'S HEALTH
NATIONAL EVALUATION: ROUND II

CCOE Community Partner Survey

You were selected to participate in Round II of the National Evaluation of the National Community Centers of Excellence in Women's Health (CCOE) program, based on your partnership with your local CCOE or CCOE—Ambassadors for Change program. The Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) Office on Women's Health (OWH) is sponsoring this evaluation. Community partners for the CCOEs were randomly selected to provide input on what community resources the CCOE programs are leveraging and how. Additionally, your responses will help OWH learn how services are integrated between each CCOE and its community partners.

Data gathered from this effort will be aggregated at the national level and individual CCOE level. CCOE-level information will be used for program improvement purposes. At a national level, your feedback will influence future decisions about the CCOE program.

The following topic areas will be covered in the survey. However, please only complete the sections that are applicable to the services and support you provide for the CCOE program.

IMPORTANT: Please read the descriptions listed below for each service:

- Health Service Delivery: Includes a full range of care (including but not limited to: acute, chronic, and preventive care), and incorporates both primary and specialty services (including mental and dental health services, patient education, health promotion, enabling services, and ancillary services).
- Training Health Care Providers: Includes activities such as in-service training, continuing education, workshops and demonstrations, courses, and internship opportunities; and targets a broad spectrum of providers including health care professionals, students, residents, and lay health care workers.

- Public Education and Outreach: Includes patient educational materials, activities, and outreach such as: distance learning; working with the media; health fairs; outreach workers; resource centers; partnerships with libraries, pharmacies, stores/businesses, schools, faith-based, and other organizations.
- Leadership Development: Leadership development for women in the health professions supports strategies to encourage women to join and remain in the health professions and to become leaders in their communities. Activities may include: mentoring, leadership training, skills development, shadowing, providing employment opportunities, and internships for students.
