Traveler Redress Inquiry Program (TRIP)

The Homeland Security Traveler Redress Inquiry Program (DHS TRIP) is an easy to use, single point of inquiry for travel issues related to identity.

US-VISIT

DHS TRIP

- provides a clearly-defined process for legitimate travelers to report travel-related discrepancies
- ensures that personal information is accurate and complete focusing fewer resources on legitimate travelers and more resources on national security and law enforcement issues.

Why DHS TRIP?

DHS TRIP is a central gateway to address

- watch list misidentification issues
- situations where travelers believe they have faced screening problems at immigration points of entry
- situations where travelers believe they have been unfairly or incorrectly delayed, denied boarding or identified for additional screening at our nation's transportation hubs

DHS TRIP is part of an effort by the State Department and Homeland Security to renew the United States' reputation as a welcoming nation to legitimate travelers while still securing our country from those who want to do us harm.

Who is TRIP for?

People who have been repeatedly identified for additional screening can file an inquiry to have erroneous information corrected in DHS systems.

How does TRIP work?

DHS TRIP is the central processing point for redress inquiries. Requests received online are routed for redress to the appropriate DHS components. Components will review the request and reach a determination about a traveler's status.

How is the information entered used?

People will have easy access to information collected through the DHS TRIP online system. DHS TRIP shares information it receives with the Department of State and airport and airline operators, as needed, to resolve issues.

More About the Screening and Watch Lists

What is the terrorist watch list?

After 9/11, the Terrorist Screening Center (TSC) was created through a Presidential Directive to be administered by the FBI, U.S. Department of Justice, in cooperation with the departments of Homeland Security, Defense, State and Treasury, and the Central Intelligence Agency. International criminal information that originates with foreign governments, especially lost and stolen passports, is provided by INTERPOL.

More About the Screening and Watch Lists

What is the terrorist watch list?

After 9/11, the Terrorist Screening Center (TSC) was created through a Presidential Directive to be administered by the FBI, U.S. Department of Justice, in cooperation with the departments of Homeland Security, Defense, State and Treasury, and the Central Intelligence Agency. International criminal information that originates with foreign governments, especially lost and stolen passports, is provided by INTERPOL.

The purpose of the Terrorist Screening Center is to consolidate terrorism based watch lists into a central database and make that data available for use in screening. Intelligence and law enforcement agencies nominate individuals to be put on the watch list based on established criteria.

Two subset lists are the "No Fly" list and "Selectee" list.

- The "No Fly" list includes individuals who are prohibited from boarding an aircraft. You are NOT on the No-Fly list if you receive a boarding pass.
- The "Selectee" list includes individuals who must undergo additional security screening before being permitted to board an aircraft.

How do I know if I am on a Government Watch List?

The U.S. government does not reveal whether a particular person is on the terrorist watch list, which is administered by the Terrorist Screening Center. If the government revealed who was on the terrorist watch list, terrorist organizations would be able to circumvent its purpose by determining in advance which of their members are likely to be questioned or detained. More information on the Terrorist Screening Center.

Many people are erroneously told or led to believe that they are on a watch list during a screening process, when in fact they are merely experiencing a delay caused by a name similarity to a person who is on the watch list. DHS TRIP can help resolve these inconveniences. Go To Step 2

What factors are used to determine if someone is selected for secondary screening?

Many factors are considered, specifics of which cannot be provided without revealing information vital to our homeland security.

If you have been sent for secondary screening without any apparent cause and if this happened on more than one occasion, you can use DHS TRIP to inquire about any discrepancies that can occur in the records attached with your personal information that could be contributing to this situation. Go To Step 2.

- More on the screening experience from TSA.

Foreign Students and Exchange Visitors

Foreign students and exchange visitors are strongly encouraged to contact your school official or program sponsor. They will be able to assist if the difficulty you have experienced is related to the Student and Exchange Visitor Information System or SEVIS.

Issues unrelated to SEVIS may be addressed using DHS TRIP.
