

I-90 Instructions	Old	New
Page 1, Section Entitled “Where Should You File the Application?”	Where Should You File the Application? You have the option of filing this paper form at the Los Angeles, California, Lockbox facility (see address below), or you may file it electronically by using the internet. If you are a commuter, you are also required to submit your application to the Los Angeles, California, Lockbox facility (see address below), which will require you to list a U.S. address on the Form. Thus, you may submit your application with a mailing address in care of a relative, friend, employer or you may obtain a U.S. Post Office Box.	Where Should You File the Application? You have the option of filing this paper form at the Los Angeles, California, Lockbox facility (see address below), or you may file it electronically by using the internet. If you are a commuter, you are also required to submit your application to the Los Angeles, California, Lockbox facility (see address below), which will require you to list a U.S. address on the Form. Thus, you may submit your application with a mailing address in care of a relative, friend, employer or you may obtain a U.S. Post Office Box. NOTE: If you are in Commuter status, you are required to list a U.S. address on the Form I-90. You may use any U.S. address, such as a U.S. Post Office Box, or the address of a relative, friend or an employer, so long as you will, in fact, receive any mail that is sent to you at that address.