

Summary of Public Comments Received on the Information Collection

U.S. Election Assistance Commission

Alternative Voting Methods Study

Public Comment Summary:

The Alternative Voting Methods Study received one comment regarding the proposed information collection materials. Overall, the comment demonstrated a support for the objectives of this study. Specifically, the comment indicated support for a key issue that will be examined in this study, namely, making the day on which Federal elections are held a Federal holiday. Providing several justifications for making Election Day a Federal holiday, the comment concluded that the benefits outweigh any drawbacks. There were no suggestions for changes to the study.
