Soliciting Email

Last fall, we asked for your help in informing your business readers about the 2007 Economic Census, and sent additional communications through February of this year, when forms were due back from more than 4 million businesses. Now that data collection is complete, we can proudly say that, with your help, business response was the best in years, and, in some categories, the best ever.

Please help us evaluate the promotional activities we undertook with you, and tell us how we can best assist you in the future, by completing a short survey at <http://questionweb.com/XXXXX>. Your response is voluntary, and is anonymous unless you choose to identify yourself to us.
