DEFINITIONS FOR CENSUS OF JUVENILE PROBATION SUPERVISION OFFICES

Adjudication — Equivalent to the guilt phase in adult court, this is the process by which it is determined whether or not there is sufficient evidence to substantiate the allegations set forth in the petition.

Adult Criminal Court — The appropriate justice court with jurisdiction to hear criminal cases.

Aftercare — Aftercare is a continuation of formal court ordered probation supervision following release from a local or privately-run facility. It may include treatment and/or reintegration plans. It excludes parole, post-probation supervision, and other understandings of aftercare.

COURT ORDERED case-processing options — Case-processing options that require an order issued by a judge.

Detention — A secure facility that temporarily holds juveniles awaiting adjudication, disposition, or placement. This type of confinement is typically used to ensure the safety of the community or the juvenile.

Disposition — Equivalent to the sentencing phase in adult court, this is the process by which a juvenile court judge decides what, if any, actions should be taken to prevent the juvenile from committing future delinquent and/or criminal acts.

Diversion — A non-court case-processing option that allows the juvenile to remain out of the juvenile justice system while still holding them responsible for their delinquent act(s). Diversion occurs at intake and can involve community service, restitution, and/or compliance with a variety of stipulations set forth by the probation officer and agreed upon by the juvenile and parent/guardian.

Formal (court ordered) juvenile probation supervision — Formal court ordered probation supervision is the supervision of persons adjudicated for one or more delinquent or status offenses.

FOR-PROFIT — A contractual relationship involving fee-for-service contracts between the probation agency and a for-profit business.

Informal (non-court ordered) juvenile probation supervision — Informal juvenile probation supervision is the supervision of persons who have reached an agreement with this probation office and, usually, the juveniles' parents or guardians. This non-court ordered agreement stipulates the conditions of compliance.

Intensive Supervision Probation (ISP) — ISP is an increased level of supervision of juveniles adjudicated for one or more delinquent or status offenses. ISP is an extension of formal court ordered juvenile probation supervision and includes any combination of the following characteristics: (1) low officer-client caseload; (2) high levels of offender accountability; (3) high levels of offender responsibility; and (4) high levels of control of offender.

NON-COURT case-processing options — Case-processing options available to probation personnel that do not require actions, orders, or judgements by the court.

NOT-FOR-PROFIT — Partnerships where the probation agency coordinates and works with not-for-profit and/or governmental entities that may or may not involve payments or fees by the probation agency to the group with which it is partnering.

Parole — Supervision of juveniles who are released following commitment to a state institution.

Partnerships — Partnerships are relationships where the probation agency coordinates and works with not-for-profits and/or governmental entities. Partnerships do NOT involve payments or fees by the probation agency to the group with which it is partnering.

Prevention programming — Prevention programming provides programs and services to prevent juvenile offending for juveniles not yet in the juvenile probation system, but possibly or probably at risk of delinquent or deviant behavior.

Residential facility — A residential facility is any state, local, tribal, or privately-run facility that houses one or more juveniles who are charged with or adjudicated for a delinquent or status offense. Examples of facilities include but are not limited to: detention centers, boot camps, residential treatment centers, and training schools.

Restorative justice — A process that brings together the juvenile offender and the victim in an attempt to make the victim "whole again" and to increase the juvenile offender's accountability to both the victim and the community.

Unwritten guidelines — Guidelines used by juvenile probation personnel that are not written in any document or set of documents but are commonly known and/or followed by persons in the probation office.

Written guidelines — Guidelines written in a document or set of documents for juvenile probation personnel to use in assisting them with formulating probation plans.
