DEFINITION OF RESIDENTIAL CARE FACILITIES

“Residential care facilities are places that are licensed, registered, listed, certified, or otherwise regulated by the state and that provide room and board with at least two meals a day, around-the-clock on-site supervision, and help with personal care such as bathing and dressing or health related services such as medication management. These facilities serve an adult population. Facilities licensed to exclusively serve people with mental illness or mental retardation/developmental disabilities are excluded.”

SHOWCARD 2

DEFINITION OF A FORMAL NEGOTIATED RISK AGREEMENT

We would now like to ask you about how the facility manages risky behavior by residents.

By risky behavior, we mean when residents do things that staff think pose a risk to their health and safety - such as refusing to take prescribed medications, not using a walker when their balance is poor, or not complying with prescribed diets.

Some facilities use a formal document called a managed risk agreement or a formal negotiated risk agreement, which documents the risky behavior, discussions with the resident about the behavior, alternatives to the behavior presented by staff, and agreements reached between the facility and the resident about the behavior. Some facilities also use these documents as liability waivers for harm resulting from risky behavior.
