qualify of life outcomes in neurological disorders - new spending of american tax dollars

i oppose this spending for this new collection of information that will sit in a file drawer and rot away with no action from it. i see no action proposed. i also do not think the outline of the work makes any sense at all. the work proposed is not clearly defined and we've been spending american tax dollars with not clearly defined results for far too long. this is an example.

in addition, if any such survey is done it must be done in one language. english is our language here in america. far too many illegal overwhelming hordes who have languages in other countries have invaded this country and american taxpayers cannot pay costs for all of those invaders who don't come in legally and who don't bother to learn anything at all about america.
