Attachment 4: Public Comments and Responses to FRN

Dear b sachau:

Thank you for your comments concerning the CDC 60 day Federal Register Notice for the project "Personal Flotation Devices (PFDs) and Commercial Fishermen: Preconceptions and Evaluation in Actual Use." We have given the concerns you described careful consideration. For further information regarding the unique mission of CDC, please refer to our website at www.cdc.gov.

Thank you for your continued interest in CDC.

Sincerely,

Devin Lucas, MS

60 day 07 07 bl commercial fishermen

a lot of these issues we already know. we know that commercial fishermen dont like to wear them. why dont we turn this project over to a manufacturer of commercial floatating devices to do instead of spending american tax dollars on this. why are we spending us tax dollars for this when a manufacturer profiteer can probably do a better job. the costs to do this by a us govt agency will cost far far more than allowing a private company to do this - just give them the idea and let them run with it. then the outcome can be evaluated by taxpayers, rather than taxpayers paying for this stage of development. i am sure there are personal flotation device mfrs that would love to make the money from this kind of development.
