National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP) Instructions for Completing Worksheets for English Language Learners (ELL)

(Please review these instructions before completing the ELL Worksheets)

Frequently Asked Questions

What information is collected on the ELL Worksheets?

The ELL Worksheet determines how each ELL student is assessed on the state academic assessment in the NAEP subject the student is selected to take (front), if each student can participate in NAEP with the accommodations allowed for the NAEP subject (front), and each student's English language proficiency and grade-level performance (back).

School personnel will make the final determination on how ELL students are included in the NAEP assessment.

If you need clarification for completing the worksheet, please contact your NAEP state coordinator.

What if the NAEP subject is not tested on the state academic assessment?

If the NAEP subject is not tested on the state academic assessment, the person completing the worksheet should refer to how the student is tested or receives instruction in the classroom.

For example, if the NAEP subject is "civics, geography, or U.S. history" and these subjects are not tested on the state academic assessment, the person completing the worksheet should know how the student is tested or receives instruction in the classroom in a social sciences class.

Who should complete the worksheet?

The person completing the front of the worksheet should be the person at your school most knowledgeable about how the student is tested in the state academic assessment in the subject listed in column D on the front of the worksheet.

For example, if the NAEP subject listed is "M" for mathematics, the person completing the worksheet should know how the student is tested in the state academic assessment in mathematics.

This person may be a school testing coordinator, ELL coordinator, or teacher.

The person completing the back of the worksheet should be the person at your school most knowledgeable about the student's English language proficiency and grade-level performance.

What if an ELL student is withdrawn, ineligible to take NAEP, or not enrolled in the sampled grade? Draw a single line through that student's name and leave the rest of the worksheet blank for that student.

What should I do with the worksheet(s) when I'm finished?

Return all completed worksheets to the NAEP school coordinator by the date requested. If you are the school coordinator, put the completed worksheets in the NAEP Storage Envelope. Your NAEP representative will collect it at the preassessment visit.

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

Dear Principal or Administrator:

Thank you for allowing your school to participate in the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP). These assessments are vital to measuring the academic skills and progress of the students in our nation and in each state.

As you know, the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) requires that all students with disabilities participate in state and district wide assessment programs through regular assessments, including with appropriate accommodations when necessary, or alternate assessments. The No Child Left Behind Act (NCLB) likewise requires the participation of students with disabilities in the student academic assessments required under that Act, and also requires that English language learners, as well as other groups of students, participate in those state assessments. NCLB allows for reasonable accommodations on assessments administered to English language learners. Although federal law does not explicitly specify similar requirements regarding the participation of students with disabilities and English language learners in NAEP, the NAEP program has been working very hard to make its sample of students taking the assessments as representative as possible of all students. We are asking you to ensure that the greatest possible number of students with disabilities and English language learners in your school, who are selected to participate, do in fact take the assessments.

Please keep in mind that NAEP does not produce results for individual students or schools, as your state or district tests might. All results are summarized only at the national and state levels (and for a few large urban districts). In other words, the NAEP assessments do not impose consequences for the student or the school, and are instead intended purely to provide a picture of educational performance and progress.

We want to include as many students as possible in the picture NAEP provides for us. For this reason, we ask you to do all you can to help ensure the participation of students who are selected for NAEP whenever possible, including students with disabilities and English language learners. Students taking the NAEP are able to use most of the testing accommodations they usually receive in other tests (e.g., extended time, small group testing). Most students with disabilities and English language learners are indeed able to participate in NAEP with their fellow students.

NAEP is one of the most visible and important indicators of educational performance in this country, and we very much appreciate your support in making NAEP as inclusive as possible.
