

Thank You

FROM THE DIRECTOR

U.S. CENSUS BUREAU

...for the help you gave the U.S. Census Bureau field representative who just visited you.

Because of your cooperation and the cooperation of the others, we will be able to make available information that will aid the government in planning for the housing needs of the American people.

Your answers represent not only your household but also hundreds of others like yours. We will combine your answers with answers from thousands of other homes to produce housing information. We will hold the information you provided in the strictest confidence under Title 13 of the United States Code. We will use your information only for statistical purposes.

One of our field representatives may visit this address again in several years. If you should move away, we would interview the new occupants. We return to the same addresses to measure changes in the housing stock, the structural characteristics of the country's housing, and some demographic characteristics of the occupants.

If you have access to the Internet and want to learn more about the American Housing Survey, please visit our Web site at www.census.gov/hhes/www/ahs.html.

Again, the Census Bureau appreciates your help.

Sincerely,

Steve H. Murdock