

Explanation for nomaterial or nonsubstantive change to a currently approved collection:

SF-424 Research and Related (R&R) collection (4040-0001)

The SF-424 R&R is the government-wide data set for research grant applications. It consists of various components as follows:

Application

Personal Data

Senior/Key person (Expanded)

Other Project Information

SBIR/STTR

Budget (up to 5 years)

Budget (up to 10 years)

Budget (Fed/Non-Fed) up to 5 years

Subaward Attachments (up to 10)

Subaward Attachments (more than 10)

Subaward Budget (Fed/Non Fed) up to 10 attachments

The minor changes requested involve the two components highlighted above:

Budget (Fed/Non-Fed) – change to allow a duplicate component that goes to 10 years

Subaward Budget (Fed/Non Fed) – change to allow a duplicate component that allows up to 30 attachments.

The data labels and data collected remains the same. The agencies verified that the burden would not be affected. Agencies that use the increased periods and attachments currently have the applicant submit the additional information through other attached files on the generic Grants.gov Attachments form. Expanding the periods and attachment capability would allow the information to be under one form.
