

"I HAD"

BACKGROUND MUSIC

Woman 1: I didn't think it was anything.

Woman 2: I had a backache for a couple of weeks...it just wouldn't go away.

Woman 3: I felt bloated.

ANNOUNCER: These symptoms may be nothing... But they could be early warning signs of cervical, ovarian, uterine, or other gynecologic cancers.

Woman 4: My best friend felt pain in her pelvic area. She thought she might have pulled a muscle.

Woman 5: I was spotting, but I already went through menopause.

Woman 6: My sister was tired all the time. She didn't feel like herself for weeks. Seeing her doctor may have saved her life.

"MANNEQUIN"

BACKGROUND MUSIC

ANNOUNCER: Every woman's body is different.
And so is how we feel...

ANNOUNCER: But here's what we have in common...if something doesn't feel 'normal' for us, we usually know it.

ANNOUNCER: Like pelvic pain, pressure, or bloating. A backache that won't go away. Or abnormal bleeding, itching, or sores in the genital area.

ANNOUNCER: It could be a change in bathroom habits – like having to 'go' more often, and more urgently, than is normal for you.

ANNOUNCER: Or feeling tired all the time for no good reason.

ANNOUNCER: These things may be nothing to worry about, but find out for sure. See your doctor and ask about gynecologic cancer, including cervical, ovarian, uterine, and vaginal cancers.
