Background

This document contains amendments to the Income Tax Regulations (26 CFR part 1) relating to the substantiation requirements under section 170(f)(8) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986.

Section 170(f)(8) was added by section 13172 of the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1993, Public Law 103-66 (107 Stat. 455, 1993-3 C.B. 43).

Temporary regulations (TD 8544) and a notice of proposed rulemaking by cross-reference to temporary regulations under section 170(f)(8) were published in the Federal Register for May 27, 1994 (59 FR 27458, 27515). The regulations primarily address the substantiation of contributions made by payroll deduction and the substantiation of a payment to a donee organization in exchange for goods or services with insubstantial value.

A public hearing was held on November 10, 1994. On March 22, 1995, the IRS released Notice 95-15, which was published in 1995-15 I.R.B. 22, dated April 10, 1995. Notice 95-15 provides transitional relief (for 1994) from the substantiation requirement of section 170(f)(8).

After consideration of the public comments regarding the proposed regulations, the regulations are adopted as revised by this Treasury decision, and the corresponding temporary regulations are removed.

Explanation of Statutory Provisions

Section 170 allows a deduction for certain charitable contributions to or for the use of an organization described in section 170(c). Under section 170(f)(8), taxpayers who claim a deduction for a charitable contribution of $250 or more must obtain substantiation of that contribution from the donee organization and maintain the substantiation in their records. See H.R. Conf. Rep. 213, 103d Cong., 1st Sess. 565 (1993). Specifically, section 170(f)(8)(A) provides that no charitable contribution deduction will be allowed under section 170(a) for a contribution of $250 or more unless the taxpayer substantiates the contribution with a contemporaneous written acknowledgment from the donee organization.

Section 170(f)(8)(B) provides that an acknowledgment meets the requirements of section 170(f)(8)(A) if it includes the following information: (a)

The amount of cash and a description (but not necessarily the value) of any property other than cash contributed; (b) whether or not the donee organization provided any goods or services in consideration for the cash or other property contributed; and (c) a description and good faith estimate of the value of any goods or services provided by the donee organization in consideration for the cash or other property contributed, or if the goods or services consist solely of intangible religious benefits, a statement to that effect.

Under section 170(f)(8)(C), a written acknowledgment is contemporaneous, for purposes of section 170(f)(8)(A), if it is obtained on or before the earlier of: (a) The date the taxpayer files its original return for the taxable year in which the contribution was made, or (b) the due date, including extensions, for filing the taxpayer's original return for that year.

Section 170(f)(8)(E) directs the Secretary to prescribe such regulations as are necessary or appropriate to carry out the purposes of section 170(f)(8), including regulations that may provide that some or all of the requirements of section 170(f)(8) do not apply in appropriate cases.

Public Comments

Contributions Made by Payroll Deduction

The proposed regulations permit a taxpayer to substantiate contributions made by payroll deduction by a combination of two documents: (a) A pay stub, Form W-2, or other document furnished by the taxpayer's employer that evidences the amount withheld from the taxpayer's wages, and (b) a pledge card or other document prepared by the donee organization that states that the donee organization did not provide any goods or services as whole or partial consideration for any contributions made by payroll deduction.

Commentators reported that pledge cards are frequently prepared by employers at the direction of the donee organization. They suggested that the IRS accept pledge cards with the required language if the pledge cards are prepared either by the employer or by the donee organization. In response to this suggestion, these final regulations provide that pledge cards prepared by the donee organization or by another party at the donee organization's direction can be used as part of the substantiation for a contribution made by payroll deduction.

Commentators asked whether a Form W-2 that reflects the total amount contributed by payroll deduction, but does not separately list each contribution of $250 or more, can be used as evidence of the amount withheld from the employee's wages to be paid to the donee organization. Section 170(f)(8)(B) provides that an acknowledgment must reflect the amount of cash and a description of property other than cash contributed to the charitable organization. When a taxpayer makes multiple contributions to a charitable organization, the statute does not require the acknowledgment to list each contribution separately. Consequently, an acknowledgment provided for purposes of section 170(f)(8) may substantiate multiple contributions with a statement of the total amount contributed by a taxpayer during the year, rather than an itemized list of separate contributions. Therefore, a Form W-2 reflecting an employee's total annual contribution, without separately listing the amount of each contribution, can be used as evidence of the amount withheld from the employee's wages. Because the statute does not require an itemized acknowledgment, it was unnecessary to clarify the proposed regulations to address this concern.

Commentators also asked whether the donee organization must use any particular wording on the pledge card or other document prepared for purposes of substantiating a charitable contribution made by payroll deduction. Because the IRS and the Treasury Department do not believe that any particular wording is required, these final regulations clarify that the pledge card or other document is only required to include a statement to the effect that no goods or services were provided in consideration for the contribution made by the payroll deduction.

Commentators asked for guidance regarding the proper method of substantiating lump-sum contributions made by employees through their employers other than by payroll withholding. Commentators stated that employees occasionally make contributions in the form of checks payable to their employer, who then deposits the checks in an employer account and sends the donee organization a single check drawn on the employer account. When employees' payments are transferred to a donee organization in this manner, it is difficult for the organization to identify the persons who made contributions, and thus the employees may be unable to obtain the requisite substantiation. These difficulties can be eliminated if the employees' contribution checks are made payable to the donee organization and the employer simply forwards the employees' checks to the donee organization. The donee organization can then provide substantiation as it would for any individual contribution made by check. Therefore, the final regulations have not been modified to address this point.

Goods or Services With Insubstantial Value

The proposed regulations provide that goods or services that have insubstantial value under the guidelines provided in Rev. Proc. 90-12 (1990-1 C.B. 471), and Rev. Proc. 92-49 (1992-1 C.B. 987), and any successor documents, are not required to be taken into account for purposes of section 170(f)(8). The IRS re-proposed this provision in proposed regulations under section 170(f)(8) that were published in the Federal Register for August 4, 1995 (60 FR 39896), and it has therefore been deleted from these final regulations. Taxpayers may rely on those proposed regulations for payments made on or after January 1, 1994.

Additional Comments Addressed in Proposed Regulations Published in the Federal Register for August 4, 1995

Commentators raised a number of other questions about the substantiation regulations, including the following: (a) whether, in calculating a charitable contribution deduction, a donor can rely on a donee organization's estimate of the fair market value of any quid pro quo provided to the donor, (b) how certain types of benefits provided to a donor are to be valued, (c) how the fair market value of goods or services sold at a charity auction can be established, (d) how goods or services are to be treated when provided to a donor who has no expectation of receiving a quid pro quo, (e) how unreimbursed out-of-pocket expenses incurred by a taxpayer incident to the rendition of services to a donee organization can be substantiated, and (f) how certain transfers to a charitable remainder trust can be substantiated. The proposed regulations published August 4, 1995, address these questions, as explained in the preamble to those proposed regulations.

Special Analyses

It has been determined that this Treasury decision is not a significant regulatory action as defined in EO 12866. Therefore, a regulatory assessment is not required. It has also been determined that section 553(b) of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U.S.C. chapter 5) and the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. chapter 6) do not apply to these regulations, and, therefore, a Regulatory Flexibility Analysis is not required. Pursuant to section 7805(f) of the Internal Revenue Code, the notice of proposed rulemaking preceding these regulations was submitted to the Small Business Administration for comment on its impact on small business.

Drafting Information: The principal authors of these regulations are Jefferson K. Fox, Office of the Assistant Chief Counsel (Income Tax & Accounting), IRS, and Joel S. Rutstein and Rosemary DeLeone, who are formerly of that office. However, other personnel from the IRS and Treasury Department participated in their development.

Coast Guard

33 CFR Part 117

[CGD05-94-092]

Drawbridge Operation Regulations; Beach Thorofare, New Jersey

AGENCY: Coast Guard, DOT.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Coast Guard is changing the regulations governing operation of the National Railroad Corporation (AMTRAK)/New Jersey Transit Rail Operation (NJTRO) drawbridge across the Beach Thorofare, New Jersey Intracoastal Waterway, mile 68.9, at Atlantic City, New Jersey. This change to the regulations will allow the bridge to be operated remotely from AMTRAK's Philadelphia office. This change is being made in an effort to combine bridgetender and dispatcher positions, enhance rail safety operations and reduce operating costs. This action will relieve AMTRAK of the burden of having a person constantly at the bridge to open the draw, and will still provide for the reasonable needs of navigation.

EFFECTIVE DATE: November 13, 1995.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Gary Kassof, Bridge Administrator, NY, Fifth Coast Guard District (212) 668-7069.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Drafting Information: The principal persons involved in drafting this document are Mr. J. Arca, Fifth Coast Guard District, Bridge Branch, NY, Project Manager, and CAPT R. A. Knee, Fifth Coast Guard District Legal Office, Project Counsel.

Regulatory History

On March 6, 1995, the Coast Guard published a Notice of Proposed

Rulemaking entitled "Drawbridge Operation Regulations; New Jersey Intracoastal Waterway, New Jersey" in the Federal Register (60 FR 12178). The Coast Guard received four comments on the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking. One offered no objection and three opposed the proposal. Objections cited the need for visual observation to safely operate the bridge from a remote location; concern over the ability of the bridge to open in an emergency; and concern for the safety of navigation and nearby children.

The Coast Guard believes the drawbridge is adequately equipped to meet these concerns. The bridge is equipped with eight cameras which provide visual coverage of the entire bridge and waterway. One of the eight cameras has zoom and pan action capability covering a 360 degree arc. Whenever the remote control system equipment is partially disabled, or fails for any reason, the bridge will be physically tended and operated from a local control site as soon as possible, but in no case later than an hour after the malfunction. The bridge is equipped with a radiotelephone capable of communicating in both local and remote control locations. The bridge is also equipped with directional microphones and horns with the ability to receive and deliver signals. A public hearing was not requested, and one was not held.

Background and Purpose

A permit was issued by the Coast Guard on December 20, 1988, to replace and slightly raise the superstructure of the Beach Thorofare Bridge. The new drawbridge provides a vertical clearance of 4 feet at mean high water and 9 feet at mean low water when in the closed position. Prior to its rehabilitation in 1988, the old bridge was left in the open position and unused for 5 to 10 years. However, the regulations governing operation of this bridge require that the bridge open on signal from 11 p.m. to 6 a.m. From 6 a.m. to 11 p.m., the draw is required to open on signal from 20 minutes to 30 minutes after each hour and remain open for all waiting vessels. As a result of the rehabilitation and replacement work, the bridge now operates according to the published regulations. AMTRAK seeks to operate the bridge remotely from its Philadelphia office.

The Beach Thorofare section of the New Jersey Intracoastal Waterway is used primarily by recreational power boats ranging in length from eighteen (18) to thirty-eight (38) feet. The bridge is required to open for vessel traffic infrequently during the winter months.

The number of openings increase during the normal boating season.

However, the number of openings is not excessive. During the period from February 1994 through June 1994, drawlogs for the Beach Thorofare Bridge showed the bridge averaged 1 opening per day in February, 1 to 2 openings per day in March, 2 openings per day in April, 6 openings per day in May, and 7 openings per day in June. During the same 5 month period, data provided by AMTRAK showed the number of trains per month crossing the bridge in both directions remained fairly constant, averaging between 900 and 1,000 trains per month. The vast majority of these trains are passenger/shuttle type trains transporting persons wishing to visit Atlantic City, New Jersey. Train traffic across the bridge is proportionately much heavier than waterway traffic requiring openings of the bridge. Because of the relatively few requests for bridge openings, AMTRAK would like to combine the bridgetender and train dispatcher positions in its Philadelphia office. By controlling openings of the bridge and movement of trains across the bridge remotely from one location, AMTRAK can reduce operating costs and still closely monitor operations at the bridge.

The Coast Guard has no record of any vessel allisions with this bridge. The vessels that do use this waterway are relatively small, and it is unlikely that they could create major damage to the bridge even if a vessel/bridge allision did occur. Therefore, safety does not appear to be a significant concern in the evaluation of this request.

This change establishes procedures and criteria for remote operation of the drawbridge, while still providing for the needs of navigation.

Regulatory Evaluation

This rule is not a significant regulatory action under section 3(f) of Executive Order 12866 and does not require an assessment of potential costs and benefits under section 6(a)(3) of that order. It has been exempted from review by the Office of Management and Budget under that order. It is not significant under the regulatory policies and procedures of the Department of Transportation (DOT) (44 FR 11040; February 26, 1979). The Coast Guard expects the economic impact of this rule to be so minimal that a full Regulatory Evaluation, under paragraph 10e of the regulatory policies and procedures of DOT is unnecessary. This conclusion is based on the fact that this rule will not prevent mariners from passing through the Beach Thorofare Bridge nor will it change the present opening schedule.
