

After reviewing the results of pretest data, FTC staff made several minor wording changes to some questions and programming instructions within the questionnaire.