Re: 12-Month Progress Review – Request for Response

Our records indicate that the Ticket beneficiaries named on the attached Progress Review Forms have been working with your organization. We have reviewed their Social Security records but were unable to obtain evidence of earnings attained by these clients during their applicable 12-month Progress Review period. Therefore, we are requesting your help in assessing whether they are making the expected progress toward self-supporting employment.

What You Should Do

Please complete the attached Progress Review Form and return it to us according to the instructions on the form within 30 days of the date of this letter. If we obtain your input that your clients have met the requirements for this review period, they will pass their current 12-month Progress Review and we will consider them to be making the expected progress.

Why Progress Reviews are Important

As long as your clients are working with you and making the expected progress toward their work-related goals, Social Security will not conduct a medical review to see if they are still disabled under SSA rules. A Progress Review is the way Social Security decides if your clients are making enough progress with work and education to continue to be excused from a medical review.

The Timely Progress Review Guidelines enclosed with this letter show how much progress your clients are expected to make in each 12-month period to continue to be excused from a medical review. If they aren't making the expected progress, your clients will not be excused from a medical review. However, they may continue to work with your agency toward their work goals.
