Dear Applicant,

Thank you for your interest in applying for a grant under the Program for North American Mobility in Higher Education of the Fund for the Improvement of Postsecondary Education (North American Program). The North American Program is designed to assist colleges and universities in the United States, Canada, and Mexico in giving students a North American perspective to education and training in a wide range of subject areas. The ultimate intent of the Program is to assist with the building of a North American community. The governments of the United States, Canada, and Mexico have all issued guidelines to this end. Some differences do exist to reflect country-specific needs. Those differences are clearly outlined in the guidelines. Applicants from each country should use only the application materials issued by their respective government when completing the applications. Only applications that are submitted in Canada, Mexico, and the U.S. by the closing date are eligible for funding in this competition. The closing date for applications is 4:30:00 PM, Washington DC time, February xx, 2010.

The Program for North American Mobility in Higher Education fosters student exchange within the context of multilateral curricular development. Students benefit from having an added "North American" curriculum perspective and cultural dimension to their studies through a combination of trilateral curricular innovation and study abroad. The Program is administrated collectively by the Fund for the Improvement of Postsecondary Education (FIPSE), U.S. Department of Education; Human Resources and Skills Development Canada (HRSDC); and in Mexico by the Dirección General de Educación Superior Universitaria, Secretaría de Educación Pública (SEP). Projects for 2010 will begin September 1, 2010.

Applications for FY 2010 grants under the North American Program must be submitted electronically using the Department of Education's e-grants system at <http://e-grants.ed.gov>. You must submit an electronic application unless you follow the procedures in the Federal Register Notice and qualify for an exception to this requirement. Late applications will not be accepted and will not be reviewed. We strongly suggest that you submit your application several days before the submission date. No changes or additions to an application will be accepted after the deadline date.

You are reminded that the document published in the Federal Register is the official document, and that you should not rely upon any information that is inconsistent with the guidance contained within the official document.

Please review carefully the guidelines and application materials for the North American Mobility Program. We encourage consortia arrangements that exemplify a diversity of institutions with the capacity to sustain their efforts beyond the grant period of four years. We look forward to receiving your application.

Sincerely,

Ralph Hines
Acting Director,
Fund for the Improvement of Postsecondary Education

INTRODUCTION

The Program for North American Mobility in Higher Education is a funding competition undertaken co-operatively by the governments of Canada, the United States and Mexico. The purpose is to promote a student-centred North American dimension to education and training in a wide range of academic and professional disciplines that complement existing forms of bilateral and trilateral exchange among the three countries. The Program seeks to foster curriculum development and student exchange within the context of multilateral curricular development. Students will benefit from having an added North American curriculum and cultural dimension to their studies through a combination of trilateral curricular innovation and study abroad.

The Program will support collaborative efforts in the form of consortia partnerships consisting of at least two academic institutions from each country. Each project will be funded for a period of four years. The Governments of Canada, the United States and Mexico issue similar program guidelines. As some differences do exist in funding levels and country-specific requirements, applicants from each country must only use the version of guidelines and forms issued by their own government when completing the application. The Program is administered collectively by Human Resources and Skills Development Canada (HRSDC), the Fund for the Improvement of Postsecondary Education (FIPSE), US Department of Education, and the Dirección de Proyectos Especiales de la Dirección General de Educación Superior Universitaria, Secretaría de Educación Pública (SEP) in Mexico. Addresses and contact information for each government can be found under the section on submitting proposals.

TIMETABLE

Canada, Mexico, and the United States will provide financial assistance for participating institutions within their own borders. It is anticipated that up to 12 projects may be funded. Consortia activities will commence September 1, 2010.

The proposed timetable for the 2010 competition is:

Nov-Dec 2009	Call for proposals
February 2010	Application submission date
May 2010	Review of proposals
June 2010	Joint Selection Meeting
July 2010	Notification of projects approved
1 September 2010	Project activities begin
Fall 2010	Project Directors' Meeting in U.S.

OBJECTIVES

The program aims to improve the quality of human resource development in the three countries and to explore ways to prepare students for work throughout North America by:

the development of shared or common curricula among North American higher education institutions;

the mutual recognition and portability of academic credits among North American higher education institutions;

the acquisition of the languages and exposure to the cultures of Canada, the United-States, and Mexico;

the development of student apprenticeships or other work-related experiences; and an increased co-operation and exchange among academic personnel from North American higher education institutions.

The program encourages consortia to achieve these objectives by extending partnerships beyond higher education and training institutions to include others such as business, professional associations, and public authorities in the three countries. The objectives of the program are to be achieved by promoting an innovative range of cooperative student-centered higher education and training activities among the different regions of Canada, Mexico and the United States through the encouragement of joint projects undertaken by trilateral consortia. The program will support original projects that can best be carried out through multilateral groupings. It is not designed or intended to duplicate activities, which are, or can be, carried out on a bilateral basis between Canada, Mexico, and the United States.

CONSORTIA

Each consortium must involve at least two higher education or training institutions from each of the three countries for a total of six partners per project. We do not recommend additional academic partners. In Canada, institutions must be from at least two different provinces or territories. In Mexico institutions must involve at least two higher education institutions and the leader must be a higher education public institution. Partnerships among institutions in different states in Mexico will be preferred. In the United States the two institutional partners may be from the same or different states. The applying consortium should nominate one lead institution from Canada, one from Mexico, and one from the U.S. In Mexico, the lead institution must be a public institution. The lead institution is the recipient and fiscal agent for the grant.

The U.S. guidelines include the following absolute priority. Any U.S. applicant that does not meet this requirement will be ineligible for this competition. To meet this priority, the applicant must propose a project that supports cooperation in the coordination of curricula, the exchange of students, if pertinent to grant activities, and the opening of educational opportunities among the United States, Canada, and Mexico. In order to be eligible for an award under this priority, the applicant in the U.S. must be a U.S. institution, the applicant in Mexico must be a Mexican institution, and the applicant in Canada must be a Canadian institution. Canadian and Mexican institutions participating in any consortium proposal under this priority must apply, respectively, to Human Resources and Social Development Canada (HRSDC) or the Mexican Secretariat for Public Education (SEP), for additional funding under separate but parallel Canadian and Mexican competitions.

Third and subsequent partners in each country may be other education and training institutions or other relevant organizations (e.g. businesses, non-governmental organizations, publishers, government departments, chambers of commerce, research institutes, etc.) in the same or other provinces and states. However, funding is intended only for academic institutions in each consortium. There should be parity in the number of academic institutions from each country involved in each consortium. It is vital that all academic institutions participate fully in the consortium.

The members of the consortium must prepare a common proposal narrative to be submitted by the lead institution in each country to its respective government. Although the application guidelines released by each of the three countries are essentially the same, the lead institution in each country should refer to its respective government guidelines for country-specific forms and requirements.

Proposals must include for each partner institution at least one letter of endorsement from a senior executive officer (e.g., rector, vice-chancellor, president). Other letters from officials responsible for international student activity (heads of international liaison offices, registrars, academic deans and /or department heads) are optional. These letters should indicate how the project fits within the international strategy of the institution and emphasize what this project will add to that strategy. Endorsement letters should indicate the institutions willingness and intent to sign agreements on credit transfer and tuition fee waiver with partner institutions, and also include details about how the institution intends to support the project in the areas of institutional commitment, student language preparation and assessment, and student tuition and fees.

Partnerships may be new or may build on existing international or domestic linkages. Projects, however, must be new. They cannot be used to duplicate or simply extend existing activities. It is important that each partner's contribution to the joint project be clearly indicated in the proposal. This should include descriptions of all staff involved in the project. Proposals developing links among different types of higher education and training institutions are eligible, as are proposals establishing links with business/industry and other relevant organisations. During the life of the project, the inclusion of additional partners may be favourably considered if this has no implication for an increase in the program funding received. Such a change in the scope of the project must include government approval, agreement among all the partners, and a signed addendum to the memorandum of understanding.

Ensuring the broadest possible participation in the program is a high priority given the relatively small number of projects which can be supported. Therefore, individual faculties or departments should not associate themselves with more than one joint proposal.

COOPERATIVE PROJECTS

Consortia projects should clearly be student-centered rather than research-centered. The potential academic and professional impact on students from all three countries should be central to the design of the project. Proposals should also clearly indicate the target student population (e.g., fourth-year undergraduate business students) as well as the number of students who will benefit from the project. The program does not fund doctoral-level projects and projects that focus primarily on masters' theses are generally not competitive for funding. Projects in which the primary activity is research will also not be competitive.

The focus of projects should be on innovative activities, which meet all essential program objectives set out above. Proposals should address how, in concrete terms, the consortium project addresses program objectives. All disciplinary fields as well as cross-disciplinary and multi-disciplinary studies, both at masters and undergraduate levels, are eligible for consideration. We have a strong interest in supporting projects designed to increase professional mobility in fields of relevance to the evolving North American trade relationship, the environment and sustainable development, public health, and human resources development.

Projects should focus first and foremost on trilateral cooperation and development of shared curriculum based on faculty collaboration. Within a carefully defined curriculum the second focus should be on student mobility. The activities should aim not only to send students abroad, but also integrate a new perspective into what and how one learns. Plans should include taking full advantage of new and innovative means of learning via the new education technologies.

COMPETITIVE PROPOSALS

Competitive proposals should aim at the full integration of students into the normal academic and cultural milieu of the host institution and community. Students should take most, or all, of their courses from the regular offerings at the host institution alongside native students, rather than special courses for foreign students. Competitive proposals must include the following:

Innovative Curricula

The proposal should address an important curricular problem or need and describe a strategy to address it. First, this must be a curriculum and a methodology that has a clearly defined North American perspective. It should indicate how the project implements a new educational program or improves current practice to prepare students to work in and understand an international context. Details should be provided on the program of study in terms of courses, research training, internships, or work placements that the students might typically take at both the home and host institutions. It should be indicated whether the proposed curriculum is based on existing courses offered at partner institutions or will involve new or modified courses that are to be developed by the consortium. Second, the proposal must address how the student's study abroad will be integrated into their existing academic program. Include information about all additional activities, which may include intensive programs, faculty exchanges, development of teaching materials, and the use of new technologies and/or integration of distance learning. Applications that do not have a defined curriculum and focus just on student mobility will not be competitive.

Designated programs or International Certificates

Projects funded in 2010 must include for U.S. students a program of study that carries a special designation. Proposals will implement international certificates in new or existing disciplines. This applies only to the U.S. partners of consortia. The certificate may be called by a variety of names such as minor, track, specialization, concentration, or another term. All the partner schools may institute such a program of study or just the U.S. institutions. Such a designation may not exist at all institutions in Canada or Mexico. In such a case, only the U.S. institutions will offer the certificate for U.S. students. Offering the same certificate to Canadian and Mexican students may be an option for U.S. schools, but is not a requirement. As an example, the U.S. partners may propose to develop a certificate or concentration in North American trade policy for their business and marketing majors. This might include more courses than taken typically in one academic term abroad. U.S. students would take some courses prior to the study abroad, continue taking courses or participating in an internship at the host institution and then complete the certificate upon return to the home institution. The designated program should be integrated into the regular program of study and must be recognized in the U.S. diploma and transcript.

Language Training and Assessment

Explain in detail how students will gain second language proficiency adequate enough to participate in studies at the host institution. Indicate what level of language proficiency is targeted and why, as well as the resources that will be drawn upon to assist in meeting objectives in this area. Include information about how students will be assessed prior to and on return from study abroad. Indicate clearly the level of proficiency and amount of academic coursework that students must have prior to study abroad. Language assessment for all U.S. students is a requirement of the U.S. application and is supported by an allocation in the budget. Students must be assessed prior to the study abroad and upon return. Reporting on language skills is a requirement of the annual performance report.

Evaluation

The evaluation section of your application should briefly present 2-5 main project goals centering on educational outcomes for postsecondary students or professional development of those working in the field of postsecondary education. Readers will be looking for a plan that focuses on gains or changes in student knowledge, skills, behaviors, and/or attitudes. In these few paragraphs you should explain the data gathering procedures you plan to use to monitor and assess progress toward your educational aims. When describing the measurement instruments you plan to use (surveys, interviews, focus groups, assessments of e-portfolios or capstone projects, measures of class performance, scores on standardized tests, etc.), be sure to mention why they are appropriate to gauging the success of your endeavor.

Though this evaluation section of the applications is brief, it should make a convincing case to the reviewers that at the conclusion of the grant you would be in a position to discuss the extent to which learning outcomes and/or professional development goals have been achieved. The proposal readers will be looking for evidence that you have thought about how you will know what worked, what didn't work as planned, and what adjustments could be made to enhance program outcomes in the future. An evaluation section that states that you will discuss program administration, describe your activities, and the present the results of a satisfaction survey will be considered a poor evaluation plan.

Although an evaluation may not be required by Canada or Mexico, you should share it with your colleagues. As such the evaluation is part of the narrative.

Organizational Frameworks for Students

The proposal should identify the students who will participate. It should explain how long a student will be studying abroad and how credit for academic work at the partner institution will be transferred to or recognised by the home institution. Competitive proposals include full transfer and/or recognition of credit for study abroad. Proposals that involve study abroad resulting in fewer academic credits than a comparable stay at home are less competitive for funding. Students' participation in the project should not prolong their academic program of study.

Faculty mobility and collaboration

North American program projects will be expected to arrange for mobility of faculty and academic staff members to carry out teaching residencies and research assignments related to the program, and may receive funding specified for this purpose. Support for faculty mobility includes travel to attend the annual meeting, additional meetings of the consortium, plus teaching and research residencies at partner institutions. Please note that Canada, Mexico, and the United States provide different levels of funding for faculty mobility. See the budget instructions for each country on faculty mobility.

Work Placements or Apprenticeships

Proposals, which involve work experience, should address how student work placement and apprenticeship opportunities in all three countries will be established and organised. Include information on the proposed length of these opportunities, the applicable academic credits, and how this conforms to the applicable laws and regulations of the host country.

STUDENTS

The proposal should focus on the impact on students and address student mobility in detail. It should consider the value that the project adds to the particular field(s) of study through a North American approach and how students will benefit academically and professionally from such a trilateral perspective. Particular attention should be given to following areas:

Numbers, Recruitment, and Selection

On average, each of the two partner institutions in a country is expected to move eight (8) students over the life of the project. This means that the two U.S. partner schools would move 16 students over a four-year period. Each trilateral or six-institution consortium would move a total of 48 students over a four-year period.

Proposals should identify an approach for selecting student participants. Every effort should be made to ensure that participants form a broad representation of the student population, with respect to ethnicity, gender, and economic status. The sending institution will recruit and select exchange students based on compliance with its own criteria and criteria developed in collaboration with partner institutions.

The sending institution will ensure that all selected participants meet the basic program eligibility criteria. Canada and Mexico have specific requirements to qualify for student participation in the program. In the United States students must be U.S. citizens or permanent residents.

Academic Credit

Measures to ensure full academic recognition of the period abroad should be a key feature. Students should receive assurance in advance from the home institution that the study abroad will be fully credited upon their return, assuming this work has in fact been completed successfully, and that such work will be evaluated according to standards commensurable with those of the home institution. A signed agreement including tuition and academic, credit, and certificate recognition if applicable, must be signed by participating institutions and submitted by July 15 of the first year of funding. The study period abroad may include, as appropriate, practical work placement where this is recognised as fulfilling part of the credential requirement.

The content of the study program must be agreed to in writing by the home and host institutions and the individual student concerned before departure. This should indicate the home institution assurance that the study abroad, if successfully completed, will be recognised as fulfilling a comparable period of study in the home institution.

Language and Cultural Study

Proposals must clearly indicate how partner institutions will prepare students for cultural and linguistic training. This must include a means for determining whether students have sufficient language proficiency in English, French, and Spanish to study in the language of the host country, and a strategy for ensuring that students can acquire this level of proficiency.

All students must receive language and cultural preparation for their stay in a country whose official language(s) is/are not their own. This must be done before their departure and during their stay abroad. Proposals must include specific details regarding what institutional will be used to prepare outgoing and/or incoming students. The U.S. application requires specific plans for language study and assessment prior to and returning from study abroad. The U.S. budget contains funds for language assessment.

Duration

Participating students from all partner institutions are provided stipends for study at one or more foreign partner institutions for a period of not less than one full academic term and not more than 12 months. Study abroad during the summer must be equal in duration and number of credits to a regular academic year term. Proposals that propose shorter periods of study abroad will not be competitive.

Stipends

For study abroad students will pay the usual tuition and fees at their home institution and should incur no additional fees or payments from the host institution. This includes fees for tuition, registration, examinations, and the use of library and laboratory facilities. Students may use a portion of their stipends to pay for language instruction at the host institution and for health insurance required by some host institutions. During the study period abroad, students should continue to receive and not incur a reduction of any grants or loans to which they are normally entitled.

Student stipends are not scholarships or fellowships. They are intended to offset the additional costs incurred by travelling and living abroad. In other words, travel stipends are not intended to pay for the full cost of study abroad, only the difference between study at home versus study abroad. In the U.S. budget students receive a fixed stipend. See the budget instructions for more details.

Services

Proposals must include plans regarding support that will be provided to mobile students at both the home and host institutions in all three countries. The aim is to ensure that participating students are well prepared for a foreign study experience and that they will be received in an appropriate manner at host institutions. The application should therefore include details about pre-departure orientation activities at the home institutions, as well as reception and orientation activities at receiving institutions. It should also identify how returning students will be integrated into their home institutions following their international study experiences.

YEAR ONE

The first year of the project may be devoted to finalizing administrative planning and co-operative trilateral arrangements among consortium partners at the institutional level. During year one the consortia may formalise agreements and finalize collaboration on the shared curriculum. In order to ensure the success of the entire project, funding for the subsequent three years will be contingent upon satisfactory achievements during the first year. Evidence must clearly demonstrate that all institutional partners are fully committed to work together and that formal arrangements are in place to achieve the stated goals and objectives. Students may be sent abroad in the first year if the agreement has already been signed.

By July 15 of year one the trilateral consortium will be required to submit to the three funding authorities a copy of the Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) by all partner institutions with respect to a) academic credit transfer and recognition, and b) student tuition and fees.

HRSDC, SEP, and FIPSE reserve the right to terminate project that does not submit a signed Memorandum of Understanding by July 15, and does not initiate student exchanges by the beginning of the second year.

FUNDING

Financial support will be awarded to successful consortia for four years. In addition to the requirements for the first year, funding for each subsequent year of the project will be contingent upon evidence of satisfactory progress being made in the attainment of goals and objectives. Funding is intended as seed support for carrying out joint innovative projects which can be accomplished within four years and which can, once established, be continued without on-going program support. It is essential that proposals indicate how activities will be sustained beyond the funding period.

Applicants should note that funding levels for a four-year project vary by country. Note carefully the implications this may have for project activities such as student and faculty mobility, and travel. In Mexico each consortium receives a total four-year award of 1,000,000 pesos. In Canada each consortium receives $160,000 Canadian dollars. In the United States each consortium receives a total award of $185,000 U.S. dollars. See the budget instructions for each country to see how these four-year awards are allocated.

SELECTION

Stage one: In each country external reviewers will evaluate proposals that are based on the following three general criteria:

The significance of the project, as determined by:

- a. the extent to which the project involves the development or demonstration of promising new strategies that build on, or are alternatives to, existing strategies;
- b. the likely utility of the products, such as information, materials, processes, or techniques, that will result from the project, including the potential for use in a variety of other settings;
- c. the importance or magnitude of the results or outcomes likely to be attained by the project, especially improvements in teaching and student achievement;

The quality of the design of the project, as determined by:

- a. the extent to which the goals, objectives, and outcomes to be achieved by the project are clearly specified and measurable;
- b. the extent to which the design of the project is appropriate to, and will successfully address, the needs of the target population or other identified needs;
- c. the qualifications, including training and experience, of key project personnel;

The adequacy of resources, as determined by:

- a. the potential for continued support of the project after government funding ends, including, as appropriate, the demonstrated commitment of appropriate entities to such support; and
- b. the relevance and demonstrated commitment of each partner to the implementation and success of the project.

Stage two: the government agencies from the three countries meet in a joint selection meeting

The feedback from the three separate external reviews is used to assist in discussions with international government partners. At this stage of the process, Canada, the United States and Mexico negotiate the final selection of the projects. The selection process at this stage is a process of coming to a consensus on which proposals will be funded.

REQUIREMENTS

Annual and Final Performance Reports

The Canadian, American and Mexican funding bodies will carefully monitor the progress of projects towards their goals through communication with their respective lead institutions. Each project leader will be required to submit to their respective government authority an annual report which provides information about progress on consortium goals, including student mobility, curricular development, and project expenditures.

Note carefully the submission dates. In Canada and in Mexico annual reports are due one month after the anniversary date of the project. In the United States annual reports are submitted electronically and are due by July 15 each year.

Memorandum of Understanding

The signed memorandum of understanding must be submitted to each country's agency by July 15 in the first year of funding. Student mobility may not take place without a signed memorandum. The memorandum is a required component of the annual report.

Annual and Final Evaluation Reports

Each year and also at the conclusion of the project, the U.S. lead institution must submit an evaluation report completed by an independent evaluator. When a project is funded, FIPSE will issue more specific instructions for this requirement.

Annual Meetings

An important part of the program is the annual meeting, held over a two to three day period on a rotating basis among the three countries. This provides an opportunity for different consortia to share ideas and review issues of common interest. It is also intended as a forum for discussion to help guide the three government funding bodies to make trilateral decisions on how best to co-ordinate the program. Consortia are given time during the meeting to meet as a group by themselves as well as with program officials from the three countries. Budgets include funding to support participation for each partner institution in these annual meetings. The annual meeting will be in the U.S. in 2010, in Canada in 2011, in Mexico in 2012, and again in the U.S. in 2013.

Project Narrative.

When you develop your proposal, please ensure that you describe the nature and the scope of the project. Start by describing the program of study. What is the name of your designated program of study? How does the proposed program of study contribute to the vitality of developing a North American dimension? How is the program of study innovative? How will you evaluate student results? What is your plan for recruiting students? What is your plan for second language training and assessment? What will be the national and international consequences of a successful completion of the project? How are other institutions of higher education likely to benefit or learn from your experience in ways that would enable them to provide a North American perspective to your discipline or profession? Carefully describe the project, its objectives, strategies for achieving those objectives, and for each year of the project, the expected outcomes and how success in achieving those objectives would be evaluated. Each application must include a well-written evaluation plan aimed at measuring success of the project activities and outcomes through solid quantitative and qualitative evidence. This plan must be coordinated among partners to ensure that the success being measured is consortia-wide.

Your proposal should offer reviewers a clear description of the roles of each partner. It should cover who will do what, when, where and with what anticipated results. Your strategy should be carefully designed to address the central purpose of your project. With regard to directed field studies, describe specifically what type of activities will be undertaken to facilitate the assessment of the environmental impact of the project.

Project Summary. Be sure to include the following on one page.

- title of the project
- names of the partner institutions
- name and information for a contact person at each partner institution
- project abstract limited to 200 words

Budget Narrative. A budget narrative or explanation is required for the U.S. application. The budget narrative must include a detailed explanation of each line item in the budget. Be sure to number the narrative details according to the line items in the budget.

Personnel Information. The qualifications of the project director and key personnel related to the project should be clearly stated. For this purpose, submit a one-page bio or resume, highlighting only relevant skills and experience related to the application. Do NOT submit a standard curriculum vitae or any document longer than one page per person. In place of one-page resumes, you may submit a paragraph for each person related to the project.

Timetable. List key project objectives, major activities and expected results. These items should be clearly aligned with timeframes. Use the same grid for each year of your project.

Endorsement Letters. The applicant must provide a letter of support from the senior executive officer of each academic partner in the three countries, indicating how this project fits within the academic exchange policy and the international strategy of the institution, and emphasising what this project will add to that strategy. Other major parties involved in the consortium should also indicate in writing their commitment to this project.

Budget. Follow carefully the published budget instructions. The U.S. application uses the standard Ed budget form (SF 524). Applicants must use the budget forms of the country where the application is submitted.

Standard Forms. Each of the eight (8) standard forms that are required for the North American program application include instructions. Be sure to read those carefully. In case of the budget form (SF 524) follow the supplementary instructions that are specific to the North American program.

Title Page. The project title should be the same for each country. The U.S. application uses a standard government form (SF 424 and Supplemental SF 424) for the title page.

These awards support only the participation of U.S. institutions and students in these consortia of American, Canadian, and Mexican institutions. Canadian and Mexican institutions participating in any consortium proposal responding to the invitational priority may apply, respectively, to Human Resources and Social Development

Canada (HRSDC) or the Mexican Secretariat for Public Education (SEP), for additional funding under separate but parallel Canadian and Mexican competitions.

V. Application Review Information

1. Selection Criteria: The selection criteria for this program are from 34 CFR 75.210 of EDGAR and are listed in the application package.

2. Review and Selection Process: Additional factors we consider in selecting an application for an award are applications that demonstrate a tri-lateral, innovative North American approach to training and education.

VI. Award Administration Information

1. Award Notices: If your application is successful, we notify your U.S. Representative and U.S. Senators and send you a Grant Award Notification (GAN). We may notify you informally, also.

If your application is not evaluated or not selected for funding, we notify you.

2. Administrative and National Policy Requirements:

We identify administrative and national policy requirements in the application package and reference these and other requirements in the Applicable Regulations section in this notice.

We reference the regulations outlining the terms and conditions of an award in the Applicable Regulations section in this notice and include these and other specific conditions in the GAN. The GAN also incorporates your approved application as part of your binding commitments under the grant.

3. Reporting: At the end of your project period, you must submit a final performance report, including financial information, as directed by the Secretary. If you receive a multi-year award, you must submit an annual performance report that provides the most current performance and financial expenditure information as directed by the Secretary under 34 CFR 75.118. The Secretary may also require more frequent performance reports under 34 CFR 75.720(c). For specific requirements on reporting, please go to

<http://www.ed.gov/fund/grant/apply/appforms/appforms.html>

4. Performance Measures: Under the Government Performance and Results Act of 1993 (GPRA), the following two performance measures will be used by the Department in assessing the success of the FIPSE–Special Focus Competition: Program for North American Mobility in Higher Education:

1) The extent to which funded projects are being replicated (i.e., adopted or adapted by others).

2) The manner in which projects are being institutionalized and continued after funding.

If funded, you will be asked to collect and report data from your project on steps taken toward achieving these goals. Consequently, applicants are advised to include these two outcomes in conceptualizing the design, implementation, and evaluation of their proposed projects. Institutionalization and replication are important outcomes that ensure the ultimate success of international consortia funded through this program.

U.S. Department of Education e-Application Submission Procedures and Tips for Applicants

<http://e-grants.ed.gov>

To facilitate your use of e-Application, this document includes important application preparation and submission procedures you need to be aware of to ensure your application is received in a timely manner and accepted by the Department of Education. Please read and follow these step-by-step directions to create and submit your application.

ATTENTION

Applicants using the Department of Education's e-Application system will need to register first to access an application package. Forms in an application package are completed on line and narratives are uploaded while logged into the system. Therefore, allow sufficient time to complete your application before the closing date. If you have not used e-Application in the past, you may want to walk through the Demo available on the e-Application homepage. If you encounter difficulties, you may also contact the e-Grants help desk on 1-888-336-8930. The following are steps you should follow to successfully complete an application with e-Application.

Step 1 – Determine if your program is accepting electronic applications. The Federal Register Notice of each program will indicate whether the program is accepting e-Applications as part of the Department's e-Application program. Here is a link to the Department's Federal Register notices: <http://www.ed.gov/news/fedregister/announce/index.html>. Additional information on the Department of Education's grant programs can be found at <http://www.ed.gov/about/offices/list/ocfo/grants/grants.html>.

Step 2 – Register in e-Application to access the application package. If you are a new user, you will need to register to use e-Application. From the e-Grants Portal Page <http://e-grants.ed.gov/>, click on the continue button and click the register button on the right side of the next page. Select the e-Application module and click the next button. Please provide the requested information. Your e-Grants password will be sent to the e-mail address you provide. Once you receive the e-mail, enter your username and password and click the login button.

If you already have a username and password for e-Grants, use them to login. If you have access to more than one e-Grants module, you will be directed to select which module you wish to enter. Keep in mind that this username and password will be used for all e-Grants modules. In order to update your registration for additional e-Grants modules, click the appropriate tab on the top of the screen and provide the requested information.

Note the following browser compatibility problems. The site is viewed best in Internet Explorer 5. We currently support IE 5, Netscape 6.2, Firefox 2.2 (along with later versions of IE, Netscape and Firefox). Please make sure that you have Cookies and JavaScript enabled in your browser.

Step 3 - Add Application Package to your Start Page. From your Start Page, click on the "Add" button to see the list of application packages. Click on a specific package link on the List of Application Packages to apply. The package will now appear on your Start Page. From this point forward, you will access your unique application from your Start Page (not the Packages Page).

Step 4 - Begin the Application. Click on the underlined Application Package Title on your Start Page. This brings you to a page where you will see all of the application's forms and narratives listed as underlined links.

Step 5 - Fill out Forms. Enter a form by clicking on the underlined form title in order to enter data. Remember to click the "Save" button at the bottom of the form and check the "Form Completed" box for each form as you complete it.

Step 6 - Upload File(s) for Narrative Responses. Click on an underlined narrative form title for the e-Application. Enter the title of the document, and click on the "Browse" button to locate your file. Remember to click the "Save" button after you upload the document and check the "Form Completed" box when you finish uploading your file(s). Please note for file uploads, we accept .doc, .rtf, and .pdf files only. If you are using Word 2007, please save your document in a lower version of Word before uploading into e-Application.

Step 7 - Verify Information/Print Application. Verify your information is complete and correct on all required forms and narratives. You have the option to print each form at any time by clicking on the print/view icon  next to the appropriate form. After submission of the forms and narratives, you have the option to print a complete e-Application package in PDF by clicking on the "Request Complete Package in PDF" on the e-Application PR/Award page. A second window will open informing you that your request has been received and that you will be notified via e-mail once it is available. This process can take anywhere from a few minutes to a few hours. Once you receive the e-mail, click on the link in the text of the message and enter your username and password in the new window. This will open the PDF file from which you can view/print the entire package. In addition, a blank complete package in PDF will be accessible from the package page in e-Application.

Step 8 - Submit your Application. Only authorized individuals for your organization can submit an application. Please check with your Authorizing Representative or sponsored research office before submission. Click on the "Ready to submit" button at the bottom of your application. Enter and verify the Authorizing Representative information. Click the "Submit" button. You will receive an e-mail to confirm that your application was received, and it will include a unique application number. Please print and keep this e-mail for your records. [Reminder: applications must be submitted before 4:30:00 p.m., Washington, DC time, on the deadline date for applications. e-Application will not accept your application if you try to submit it after 4:30:00 on the deadline date.]

Write your unique application number (received in step 8) on the upper right corner of your printed SF 424 Cover Page (or Program Specific Cover Page), and fax it to the Application Control Center (202) 245-6272 within 3 business days of submitting your e-Application.

NOTE: For more detailed information on submitting an e-Application, please see the User Guide. In addition, please try practicing with our e-Application Demo site by clicking on the Demo button found on the upper left corner of the e-Application Home Page. Both the User Guide and Demo can be found at <http://e-grants.ed.gov>.

Other Submission Tips

- 1) SUBMIT EARLY - We strongly recommend that you do not wait until the last day to submit your application. The time it takes to upload the narratives for your application will vary depending on a number of factors including the size of the files and the speed of your Internet connection. If you try to submit your application after 4:30:00 p.m., Washington, DC time on the deadline date, the e-Application system will not accept it.
- 2) If electronic submission is optional and you have problems that you are unable to resolve before the deadline date and time for electronic applications, please follow the transmittal instructions for hard copy applications in the Federal Register notice and get a hard copy application postmarked by midnight on the deadline date.

If electronic submission is required, you must submit an electronic application before 4:30:00 p.m., unless you follow the procedures in the Federal Register notice and qualify for one of the exceptions to the electronic submission requirement and submit, no later than two weeks before the application deadline date, a written statement to the Department that you qualify for one of these exceptions. (See the Federal Register notice for detailed instructions.)

- 3) Dial-Up Internet Connections - When using a dial-up connection to upload and submit your application, it can take significantly longer than when you are connected to the Internet with a high-speed connection, e.g. cable modem/DSL/T1. While times will vary depending upon the size of your application, it can take a few minutes to a few hours to complete your grant submission using a dial-up connection. If you do not have access to a high-speed connection and electronic submission is required, you may want to consider following the instructions in the Federal Register notice to obtain an exception to the electronic submission requirement no later than two weeks before the application deadline date. (See the Federal Register notice for detailed instructions.)

Attaching Files – Additional Tips

Please note the following tips related to attaching files to your application:

1. Ensure that you only attach the Education approved file types detailed in the Federal Register application notice (.doc, .pdf or .rtf). If using Word 2007, save your file to an earlier version of Word before uploading. Also, do not upload any password-protected files to your application.
2. When attaching files, applicants should limit the size of their file names. Lengthy file names could result in difficulties with opening and processing your application. We recommend you keep your file names to less than 50 characters. In addition, applicants should avoid including special characters in their file names (for example, %, *, /, etc.) Both of these conditions (lengthy file names and/or special characters including in the file names) could result in difficulties opening and processing a submitted application.
3. Applicants should limit the size of their file attachments. Documents submitted that contain graphics and/or scanned material often greatly increase the size of the file attachments and can result in difficulties opening the files. Please note that each file attachment in e-Application has a file size limitation, which is anywhere from 2 to 8 MB, and the limitation will be indicated on the individual screen when you upload a file. For reference, however, the average discretionary grant application package totals 1 to 2 MB. Therefore, you may want to check the size of your attachments before uploading them into e-Application.

Executive Order 12372 (Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs)

This program falls under the rubric of Executive Order 12372 (Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs) and the regulations in 34 CFR Part 79. One of the objectives of the Executive order is to strengthen federalism--or the distribution of responsibility between localities, States, and the Federal government--by fostering intergovernmental partnerships. This idea includes supporting processes that State or local governments have devised for coordinating and reviewing proposed Federal financial grant applications.

The process for doing this requires grant applicants to contact State Single Points of Contact for information on how this works. Multi-state applicants should follow procedures specific to each state.

Further information about the State Single Point of Contact process and a list of names by State can be found at:

<http://www.whitehouse.gov/omb/grants/spoc.pdf>

Absent specific State review programs, applicants may submit comments directly to the Department. All recommendations and comments must be mailed or hand-delivered by the date indicated in the actual application notice to the following address: The Secretary, EO 12372--CFDA# [commenter must insert number--including suffix letter, if any], U.S. Department of Education, room 7E200. 400 Maryland Avenue, SW., Washington, DC 20202.

Proof of mailing will be determined on the same basis as applications (see 34 CFR §75.102). Recommendations or comments may be hand-delivered until 4:30 p.m. (eastern time) on the closing date indicated in this notice.

Important note: The above address is not the same address as the one to which the applicant submits its completed applications. Do not send applications to the above address.

General Education Provisions Act (GEPA) Section 427

ALL APPLICANTS MUST INCLUDE INFORMATION IN THEIR APPLICATIONS TO ADDRESS THIS PROVISION IN ORDER TO RECEIVE FUNDING UNDER THIS PROGRAM.

Section 427 requires each applicant to include in its application a description of the steps the applicant proposes to take to ensure equitable access to, and participation in, its federally-assisted program for students, teachers, and other program beneficiaries with special needs.

This section allows applicants discretion in developing the required description. The statute highlights six barriers that can impede equitable access or participation that you may address: gender, race, national origin, color, disability, or age.

A general statement of an applicant's nondiscriminatory hiring policy is not sufficient to meet this requirement. Applicants must identify potential barriers and explain steps they will take to overcome these barriers.

*Note: Applicants are required to address this provision by attaching a statement to the GEPA "Notice to All Applicants" form that is included in the North American Mobility application package that must be downloaded in Grants.gov.

Government Performance and Results Act (GPRA)

What is GPRA?

The Government Performance and Results Act (GPRA) of 1993 is a straightforward statute that requires all Federal agencies to manage their activities with attention to the consequences of those activities. Each agency clearly states what it intends to accomplish, identifies the resources required, and regularly reports its progress to the Congress. In doing so, GPRA is improving accountability for the expenditures of public funds, improving Congressional decision-making with more thorough and objective information on the effectiveness of Federal programs, and promoting a new government focus on results, cost-effectiveness, service delivery, and customer satisfaction.

FIPSE performance is focused on 1) the extent to which funded projects are being replicated—i.e., adopted or adapted—by others; and 2) the manner in which projects are being institutionalized and continued after grant funding. These two results constitute FIPSE's indicators of the success of our program. Consequently, applicants for FIPSE grants are advised to give careful consideration to these two outcomes in conceptualizing the design, implementation, and evaluation the proposed project. Consideration of these outcomes is an important part of many of the review criteria discussed below. Thus, it is important to the success of your application that you include these objectives and their measure. If funded, you will be asked to collect and report data from your project on these indicators.

An applicant that receives a grant award will be required to submit annual progress reports and a final report as a condition of the award. The reports will document the extent to which project goals and objectives are met. Currently, the forms for these reports can be viewed at <http://www.ed.gov/programs/fipsecomp/performance.html>.

Instructions for North American Program Forms and Attachments

Applicants are reminded that each of the three applicant institutions in the United States, Mexico, and Canada, together with their partner institutions, comprise a North American consortium and must prepare a common proposal that contains sufficient information and details to allow the reviewers in the three countries to judge the capacity of the consortium to meet the objectives of the North American Program. FIPSE applicants must download the application package found in e-grants to complete and submit. Only applications submitted by one lead institution respectively in the U.S., Canada, and Mexico will be eligible for this competition.

Read and pay close attention to the program specific instructions written below. All budgets in the North American program are the same. Be sure to submit a budget that follows these instructions. The application consists of four parts.

PART I, 424 FORMS

TITLE PAGE. (Standard Form 424—Application for Federal Assistance)
Follow the enclosed instructions. You must complete this form first because some information is automatically inserted into other sections of the e-Grants file. Do NOT attach any files to SF 424.

SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION REQUIRED FOR DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION GRANTS. Follow the enclosed instructions. On the question of human subjects research (item 3), the Department of Education has determined that this application and the proposed activities do not constitute human subjects research. However, the applicant institution or the partner institution may choose to use internal controls for human subjects if deemed applicable.

PART II, 524 FORMS

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION BUDGET FORM (Ed Form 524)

Note carefully that the budget must be completed as a single budget for both or all partner institutions in the U.S. consortium. An explanation of the funds to be shared (subcontract) with partner institutions may be detailed in a budget narrative but there is no separate line item for partner institutions in the budget. All line items are for annual and total amounts for all U.S. institutions in the consortium and must be entered in whole U.S. dollars. If you have questions about the budget, be sure to contact FIPSE.

SECTION A, DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION FUNDS

Name of Institution/Organization: Fill in name of the U.S. applicant institution/organization.

1. Personnel: Enter annual amounts and totals for salaries and wages for all partners. The amount for salaries and benefits is best calculated after consideration of the minimum required travel, evaluation, conference fee, and student and faculty travel stipends listed below.

2. Fringe Benefits: Enter annual amounts and totals for all partners.

3. Travel: Enter $10,000 each year to cover travel for all U.S. partner institutions for a total of $40,000. This is the required minimum but you may budget more. There are three categories of travel—1) the annual meeting for all projects, 2) individual consortium meetings at institutions in the United States, Canada, or Mexico, and 3) faculty mobility or travel stipends for teaching residencies and research at partner universities in Mexico and Canada. Faculty mobility stipends for teaching and research at partner institutions should use a formula of $1000 for travel expenses and $1000 per week for living expenses. Faculty mobility stipends should not exceed three or four weeks and may not be used for salary. Faculty mobility stipends are limited to the faculty directly involved with the project. Typically a consortium meets twice in each year of the grant—once at the annual program meeting in the fall and once at a separate meeting for the individual consortium either in the United States, Canada, or Mexico.

4. Equipment: Leave blank.

5. Supplies: Enter annual amounts and totals for all partners.

6. Contractual: Enter $2500 for each of the four years for a total of $10,000. This is the minimum required amount for evaluation but you may budget more. With each annual performance report you will be required to submit an evaluation report.

7. Construction: Leave blank

8. Other: Enter $6500 in the first year of the project. This represents $5000 for participation in the 2010 annual meeting and $1500 for language assessments. Enter $1500 in years 2, 3, and 4 for language assessments. The four-year total for this line is $11,000. These amounts are the required minimum but you may budget more. You may use line 8 line for additional funds but you must carefully distinguish between annual meeting expenses, language assessments, and any other funds with an explanation in the budget narrative.

9. Total Direct Cost: Enter totals for lines 1-8.

10. Indirect Costs: The U.S. Department of Education uses a training rate of 8 percent for grants in the North American Program. The 8 percent training rate also applies to all U.S. partners in the consortium. Indirect costs may be taken from direct costs. However the annual amounts for evaluation on line 6 and the conference fee and language assessments under line 8 must be kept intact since they are directly related to reportable outcomes. If your institution does not have a negotiated rate, we recommend that you put all requested funds in the direct cost lines of the budget.

11. Training Stipends (Language and Mobility): In each of the four years enter $20,000 for four student stipends. Each U.S. student participating in the North American program receives a $5000 stipend for a full academic term abroad. The U.S. partners must budget for 16 students. The total student mobility award is $80,000. Student stipends not used in one year will be carried over into the next budget year. Students may use up to $1000 of the stipend for language instruction at home or abroad. Note that student mobility stipends are for supporting study abroad for a full academic term and are defined as “training stipends” and are restricted to student use. They may not be transferred to any other line item in the budget. Consistent with EDGAR 75.562, c, and 75.564, student mobility stipends are not subject to indirect cost.

12. Total requested from FIPSE (lines 9 + 11): The award for year one is $50,000. For years two, three and four the award is $45,000 per year. The total award for four years is $185,000. We recommend that you submit a budget that carefully follows the instructions and requests these amounts.

Indirect Cost Information:

If you are requesting reimbursement for indirect costs, this information is to be completed by your Business Office. (1): Indicate whether or not your organization has an Indirect Cost Rate Agreement that was approved by the federal government. (2): If you checked “yes” in (1), indicate in (2) the beginning and ending dates covered by the Indirect Cost Rate Agreement. In addition, indicate whether ED or another federal agency (Other) issued the approved agreement. If you check “Other,” specify the name of the federal agency that issued the approved agreement. (3): If you are applying for a grant under a Restricted Rate Program (34 CFR 75.563 or 76.563), indicate whether you are using a restricted indirect cost rate that is included on your approved Indirect Cost Rate Agreement or whether you are using a restricted indirect cost rate that complies with 34 CFR 76.564(c)(2). Note: State or local government agencies may not use the provision for a restricted indirect cost rate specified in 34 CFR 76.564(c)(2). Check only one response. Leave blank, if this item is not applicable.

SECTION B, NON-FEDERAL FUNDS

Do not fill in this section. The North American program does not require cost sharing.

SECTION C, BUDGET NARRATIVE

The budget narrative must be line item specific and be attached in the Budget Narrative Attachment Form under Part III.

PART III, ATTACHMENTS

All attachments must be in .doc, .rtf., or .pdf format. Other types of files will not be accepted.

ED Abstract Form. This is where you attach the one-page summary of the project that includes the following four pieces of information—title of project, names of the partner institutions, names and contact information for one person at each partner institution in each country, and a project abstract not to exceed 200 words.

Program Narrative Attachment Form. This is the central part of your application. Read carefully the description of the project narrative in the “Application” section of the guidelines. The limit is 5000 words.

Budget Narrative Attachment Form. You must attach a budget narrative or explanation. This is referred to in Section C above. Be sure to explain each line item numbered according to the budget form. This is where you may describe the various costs that will be part of the partner’s participation in the project. There is no subcontract in the budget.

Other Attachment Form (all forms/attachments listed below must be uploaded as one file)

Personnel Information. The applicant must provide a one-page description of each person participating in the project. This includes the foreign partners.

Timetable. List key project objectives, major activities and expected results. These items should be clearly aligned with timeframes. Use the same grid for each year of your project.

Endorsement Letters. The applicant must provide a letter of support from the senior executive officer of each academic partner in the three countries, indicating how this project fits within the academic exchange policy and the international strategy of the institution, and emphasising what this project will add to that strategy. Other major parties involved in the consortium should also indicate in writing their commitment to this project.

Additional attachments. You may other attachments here but they must be uploaded as part of the single attached file.

PART IV, ASSURANCES, CERTIFICATIONS AND SURVEY FORMS

GEPA SECTION 427 FORM

CERTIFICATION REGARDING LOBBYING FORM

SURVEY ON ENSURING EQUAL OPPORTUNITY FIR APPLICANTS

DISCLOSURE OF LOBBYING ACTIVITIES (SF-LLL)

ASSURANCES—NON-CONSTRUCTION PROGRAMS (SF 424B)

For these five standard forms follow the published instructions.

2. Novice Applicant. Check “Yes” or “No” only if assistance is being requested under a program that gives special consideration to novice applicants. Otherwise, leave blank.

Check “Yes” if you meet the requirements for novice applicants specified in the regulations in 34 CFR 75.225 and included on the attached page entitled “Definitions for Department of Education Supplemental Information for SF 424.” By checking “Yes” the applicant certifies that it meets these novice applicant requirements. Check “No” if you do not meet the requirements for novice applicants.

3. Human Subjects Research. (See I. A. “Definitions” in attached page entitled “Definitions for Department of Education Supplemental Information For SF 424.”)

If Not Human Subjects Research. Check “No” if research activities involving human subjects are not planned at any time during the proposed project period. The remaining parts of Item 3 are then not applicable.

If Human Subjects Research. Check “Yes” if research activities involving human subjects are planned at any time during the proposed project period, either at the applicant organization or at any other performance site or collaborating institution. Check “Yes” even if the research is exempt from the regulations for the protection of human subjects. (See I. B. “Exemptions” in attached page entitled “Definitions for Department of Education Supplemental Information For SF 424.”)

3a. If Human Subjects Research is Exempt from the Human Subjects Regulations. Check “Yes” if all the research activities proposed are designated to be exempt from the regulations. Insert the exemption number(s) corresponding to one or more of the six exemption categories listed in I. B. “Exemptions.” In addition, follow the instructions in II. A. “Exempt Research Narrative” in the attached page entitled “Definitions for Department of Education Supplemental Information For SF 424.”

3a. If Human Subjects Research is Not Exempt from Human Subjects Regulations. Check “No” if some or all of the planned research activities are covered (not exempt). In addition, follow the instructions in II. B. “Nonexempt Research Narrative” in the page entitled “Definitions for Department of Education Supplemental Information For SF 424

(Attachment to Instructions for Supplemental Information for SF 424)

Definitions:

Novice Applicant (See 34 CFR 75.225). For discretionary grant programs under which the Secretary gives special consideration to novice applications, a novice applicant means any applicant for a grant from ED that—

- Has never received a grant or sub-grant under the program from which it seeks funding;

PROTECTION OF HUMAN SUBJECTS IN RESEARCH

I. Definitions and Exemptions

A. Definitions.

A research activity involves human subjects if the activity is research, as defined in the Department's regulations, and the research activity will involve use of human subjects, as defined in the regulations.

—Research

The ED Regulations for the Protection of Human Subjects, Title 34, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 97, define research as "a systematic investigation, including research development, testing and evaluation, designed to develop or contribute to generalizable knowledge." If an activity follows a deliberate plan whose purpose is to develop or contribute to generalizable knowledge it is research. Activities, which meet this definition constitute research whether or not they are conducted or supported under a program that is considered research for other purposes. For example, some demonstration and service programs may include research activities.

—Human Subject

The regulations define human subject as "a living individual about whom an investigator (whether professional or student) conducting research obtains (1) data through intervention or interaction with the individual, or (2) identifiable private information." (1) If an activity involves obtaining information about a living person by manipulating that person or that person's environment, as might occur when a new instructional technique is tested, or by communicating or interacting with the individual, as occurs with surveys and interviews, the definition of human subject is met. (2) If an activity involves obtaining private information about a living person in such a way that the information can be linked to that individual (the identity of the subject is or may be readily determined by the investigator or associated with the information), the definition of human subject is met. [Private information includes information about behavior that occurs in a context in which an individual can reasonably expect that no observation or recording is taking place, and information which has been provided for specific purposes by an individual and which the individual can reasonably expect will not be made public (for example, a school health record).]

B. Exemptions.

Research activities in which the only involvement of human subjects will be in one or more of the following six categories of exemptions are not covered by the regulations:

(1) Research conducted in established or commonly accepted educational settings, involving normal educational practices, such as (a) research on regular and special education instructional strategies, or (b) research on the effectiveness of or the comparison among instructional techniques, curricula, or classroom management methods.

(2) Research involving the use of educational tests (cognitive, diagnostic, aptitude, achievement), survey procedures, interview procedures or observation of public behavior, unless: (a) information obtained is recorded in such a manner that human subjects can be identified, directly or through identifiers linked to the subjects; and (b) any disclosure of the human subjects' responses outside the research could reasonably place the subjects at risk of criminal or civil liability or be damaging to the subjects' financial standing, employability, or reputation. If the subjects are children, exemption 2 applies only to research involving educational tests and observations of public behavior when the investigator(s) do not participate in the activities being observed. Exemption 2 does not apply if children are surveyed or interviewed or if the research involves observation of public behavior and the investigator(s) participate in the activities being observed. [Children are defined as persons who have not attained the legal age for consent to treatments or procedures involved in the research, under the applicable law or jurisdiction in which the research will be conducted.]

(3) Research involving the use of educational tests (cognitive, diagnostic, aptitude, achievement), survey procedures, interview procedures or observation of public behavior that is not exempt under section (2) above, if the human subjects are elected or appointed public officials or candidates for public office; or federal statute(s) require(s) without exception that the confidentiality of the personally identifiable information will be maintained throughout the research and thereafter.

(4) Research involving the collection or study of existing data, documents, records, pathological specimens, or diagnostic specimens, if these sources are publicly available or if the information is recorded by the investigator in a manner that subjects cannot be identified, directly or through identifiers linked to the subjects.

(5) Research and demonstration projects which are conducted by or subject to the approval of department or agency heads, and which are designed to study, evaluate, or otherwise examine: (a) public benefit or service programs; (b) procedures for obtaining benefits or services under those programs; (c) possible changes in or alternatives to those programs or procedures; or (d) possible changes in methods or levels of payment for benefits or services under those programs.

(6) Taste and food quality evaluation and consumer acceptance studies, (a) if wholesome foods without additives are consumed or (b) if a food is consumed that contains a food ingredient at or below the level and for a use found to be safe, or agricultural chemical or environmental contaminant at or below the level found to be safe, by the Food and Drug Administration or approved by the Environmental Protection Agency or the Food Safety and Inspection Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

II. Instructions for Exempt and Nonexempt Human Subjects Research Narratives

If the applicant marked "Yes" for Item 3 of Department of Education Supplemental Information for SF 424, the applicant must provide a human subjects "exempt research" or "nonexempt research" narrative. Insert the narrative(s) in the space provided. If you have multiple projects and need to provide more than one narrative, be sure to label each set of responses as to the project they address.

A. Exempt Research Narrative.

If you marked "Yes" for item 3 a. and designated exemption numbers(s), provide the "exempt research" narrative. The narrative must contain sufficient information about the involvement of human subjects in the proposed research to allow a determination by ED that the designated exemption(s) are appropriate. The narrative must be succinct.

B. Nonexempt Research Narrative.

If you marked "No" for item 3 a. you must provide the "nonexempt research" narrative. The narrative must address the following seven points. Although no specific page limitation applies to this section of the application, be succinct.

(1) Human Subjects Involvement and Characteristics: Provide a detailed description of the proposed involvement of human subjects. Describe the characteristics of the subject population, including their anticipated number, age range, and health status. Identify the criteria for inclusion or exclusion of any subpopulation. Explain the rationale for the involvement of special classes of subjects, such as children, children with disabilities, adults with disabilities, persons with mental disabilities, pregnant women, prisoners, institutionalized individuals, or others who are likely to be vulnerable

(2) Sources of Materials: Identify the sources of research material obtained from individually identifiable living human subjects in the form of specimens, records, or data. Indicate whether the material or data will be obtained specifically for research purposes or whether use will be made of existing specimens, records, or data.

(3) Recruitment and Informed Consent: Describe plans for the recruitment of subjects and the consent procedures to be followed. Include the circumstances under which consent will be sought and obtained, who will seek it, the nature of the information to be provided to prospective subjects, and the method of documenting consent. State if the Institutional Review Board (IRB) has authorized a modification or waiver of the elements of consent or the requirement for documentation of consent.

(4) Potential Risks: Describe potential risks (physical, psychological, social, legal, or other) and assess their likelihood and seriousness. Where appropriate, describe alternative treatments and procedures that might be advantageous to the subjects.

(5) Protection Against Risk: Describe the procedures for protecting against or minimizing potential risks, including risks to confidentiality, and assess their likely effectiveness. Where appropriate, discuss provisions for ensuring necessary medical or professional intervention in the event of adverse effects to the subjects. Also, where appropriate, describe the provisions for monitoring the data collected to ensure the safety of the subjects.

(6) Importance of the Knowledge to be Gained: Discuss the importance of the knowledge gained or to be gained as a result of the proposed research. Discuss why the risks to subjects are reasonable in relation to the anticipated benefits to subjects and in relation to the importance of the knowledge that may reasonably be expected to result.

(7) Collaborating Site(s): If research involving human subjects will take place at collaborating site(s) or other performance site(s), name the sites and briefly describe their involvement or role in the research.
