Download Regulatory Data

There is a great deal of regulatory information and data collected in a docket folder. How helpful would it be to download this information in order to track, map or display it in various formats?

Total views: 861 ★★★★★

RSS Feeds

Real Simple Syndication (RSS) feeds are currently available on our Web site and provide users with updates of Federal Register documents published daily by all U.S. government departments and agencies. We are proposing to expand our selection of RSS feeds to let you to receive updates from specific agencies that you select.

My Regulations Profile

Would you like to customize Regulations.gov to fit your needs?
Features that have been proposed for a custom profile include the following:

- Save searches and results sets so that you can search for the same information each time you log on
- Track the comments you have submitted to see when they have posted
- Stay informed about specific regulatory information and Web site updates
- Manage your e-mail alerts
- Save and watch specific dockets and/or documents in a My Favorites section
- Save your contact information into your profile in order to automatically fill out data fields when you comment on rules and regulations

Please tell us what you think by adding a post below. When visiting Regulations.gov, what activities do you typically do? How useful would the proposed features be on a My Regulations profile? What other features would you like to see?

mleach0117 Makes a VERY good point. Regulations are horrible about referring to other requirements by number, so you have to flip back and forth between to even figure out what it says.
'Except as specified in 40CFR132.26(a)(1)(B)(5)iii a facility must comply with the following requirements..'
I made up that example, but half the regulatory requirements I deal with have exceptions and other requirements inserted in them as cross-references like that.)

Regulations.gov Exchange – Topic Page

The screenshot shows the Regulations.gov Exchange interface. At the top, there are navigation links: Home, Contact Us, Help, My Profile, and Log Out. Below the navigation is the site logo and a dropdown menu for "Join a Discussion: - Select a Discussion -". The main content area is titled "Download Regulatory Data" and includes a "Share:" section with social media icons. The text describes the feature and provides links to download docket folders for NOAA and SSA. Below the text are two star rating boxes: "No votes yet" and "Your rating: None". A "Subscribe" link is also present. The "Posts" section is empty, with an "Add new post" button. Below this is a form to "Add new post" with a "Subject:" field, a checkbox section for "Does this feature address or demonstrate improvements in?" (with options: Agency Review, Effective Commenting, Policy, Technology, User Needs), and a "Message:" text area. At the bottom of the form are "Save" and "Preview" buttons. A footer contains a public reporting burden statement and contact information. The bottom of the page has a footer with "Change text size", accessibility icons, and logos for Business.gov, E-GOV, and USA.gov.

Regulations.gov Exchange – Topic Page

The screenshot shows the Regulations.gov Exchange interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links for Home, Contact Us, About Us, Help, My Profile, Log Out, and an RSS icon. Below this is the site logo and a 'Join the Discussion' dropdown menu. A 'Text' input field is visible next to the dropdown. A 'Share' section includes icons for Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn, and Google+. The main content area features 'RSS Feeds by Agency' with placeholder text and a preview of an RSS feed. Below this is a 'Posts' section with three entries: 'Love the grouping of RSS feeds', 'Just testing', and 'Math problems?'. Each post has 'edit' and 'reply' links. At the bottom is a 'Make a New Post' form with fields for 'Your name', 'Subject', and 'Comment', along with 'Save' and 'Preview' buttons. Orange arrows point from the right-side text to these specific elements: one to the 'Join the Discussion' dropdown, one to the 'reply' link of the first post, one to the 'Text' input field, and one to the 'Preview' button.
