Public Com	nent: 2010	AmeriCorps	State and Nat	onal Applicati	on Instructions
Document Number	Format	Date	Commenter	Affiliation	Comment	Response
1	Federal Register Publication	10/15/2008
2	E-mail		Martin Friedman, Education Works		Make more explicit that it is allowable to include EAPs and stipended members in one application.	Application Instructions will be edited per comment.
					Clarify non-federal sources vs non- Corporation sources of funds.	References to non-federal and non-Corporation will be reviewed and clarified where necessary.

National and Community Service Act, if employees of the sponsor are (i) "engaged in the same or substantially similar work: as that proposed to be carried out by AmeriCorps members, and (ii) represented by a labor union, then the service sponsor must obtain a written concurrence from the labor union and submit that concurrence along with its application. This section works along with the prohibitions on duplication of services and displacement of employees to ensure that AmeriCorps members are only used to address unmet needs. A need may be unmet because there is no service currently addressing the need, or because the magnitude of the need is greater than what can be met by the community alone. The concurrence of the relevant union provides an assurance that members will not displace current workers, and is further assurance that they will add value by either addressing a need that is currently not being addressed Clarify why a situation requiring labor the sponsor are (i) "regaged in the sponsor and is further assurance that they will add value by either addressing a need that is currently not being addressed					Under Sec. 130(f) of the Service Act, if employees of the sponsor are (i) "engaged in the same or substantially similar work: as that proposed to be carried out by AmeriCorps members, and (ii) represented by a labor union, then the service sponsor must obtain a written concurrence from the labor union and submit that concurrence along with its application. This section works along with the prohibitions on duplication of services and displacement of employees to ensure that AmeriCorps members are only used to address unmet needs. A need may be unmet because there is no service currently addressing the need, or because the magnitude of the need is greater than what can be met by the community alone. The concurrence of the relevant union provides an assurance that members will not displace current workers, and is further assurance that they will add value by either addressing a need that is currently not being addressed Clarify why a situation requiring labor at the local level, or by the sponsor are (i) "engaged in the same or substantially similar work: as that proposed to be carried out by AmeriCorps members, and (ii) represented by a labor union, then the service sponsor must obtain a written concurrence from the labor union and submit that concurrence along with its application. This section works along with the prohibitions on duplication of services and displacement of employees to ensure that AmeriCorps members are only used to address unmet needs. A need may be unmet because there is no service currently addressing the need, or because the magnitude of the need is greater than what can be met by the community alone. The concurrence of the relevant union provides an assurance that members will not displace current workers, and is further assurance that they will add value by either addressing a need that is currently not being addressed Clarify why a situation requiring labor at the local level, or by the same or substantially similar work: as that proposed to be carried out by AmeriCorps members, and (i) represented by a labor union, then the service sponsor must obtain a written concurrence from the labor union and submit that concurrence along with its application. This section works along with the prohibitions on duplication of services and displacement of employees to ensure that AmeriCorps members are only used to address unmet needs. A need may be unmet because there is no service currently addressing the need, or because the magnitude of the need is greater than what can be met by the community alone. The concurrence of the relevant union provides an assurance that members will not displace current workers, and is further assurance that they will add value by either addressing a need that is currently not being addressed at the local level, or by similar work: as that proposed to be carried out by AmeriCorps members, and (ii) represented by a labor union, then the service sponsor must obtain a written concurrence from the labor union and submit that concurrence along with its application. This section works along with the prohibitions on duplication of services and displacement of employees to ensure that AmeriCorps members are only used to address unmet needs. A need may be unmet because there is no service currently addressing the need, or because the magnitude of the need is greater than what can be met by the community alone. The concurrence of the relevant union provides an assurance that members will not displace current workers, and is further assurance that they will add value by either addressing a need that is currently not being addressed clarify why a situation requiring labor at the local level, or by
to be carried out by AmeriCorps members, and (ii) represented by a labor union, then the service sponsor must obtain a written concurrence from the labor union and submit that concurrence along with its application. This section works along with the prohibitions on duplication of services and displacement of employees to ensure that AmeriCorps members are only used to address unmet needs. A need may be unmet because there is no service currently addressing the need, or because the magnitude of the need is greater than what can be met by the community alone. The concurrence of the relevant union provides an assurance that members will not displace current workers, and is further assurance that they will add value by either addressing a need that is currently not being addressed Clarify why a situation requiring labor AmeriCorps members, and (ii) represented by a labor union, then the service sponsor must obtain a written concurrence from the labor union and submit that concurrence along with its application. This section works along with the prohibitions on duplication of services and displacement of employees to ensure that AmeriCorps members are only used to address unmet needs. A need may be unmet because there is no service currently addressing the need, or because the magnitude of the need is greater than what can be met by the community alone. The concurrence of the relevant union provides an assurance that members will not displace current workers, and is further assurance that they will add value by either addressing a need that is currently not being addressed Clarify why a situation requiring labor represented by a labor union, then the service sponsor must obtain a written concurrence from the labor union and submit that concurrence along with its application. This section works along with the prohibitions on duplication of services and displacement of employees to ensure that AmeriCorps members are only used to address unmet needs. A need may be unmet because there is no service currently addressing the need, or because the magnitude of the need is greater than what can be met by the community alone. The concurrence of the relevant union provides an assurance that members will not displace current workers, and is further assurance that they will add value by either addressing a need that is currently not being addressed Clarify why a situation requiring labor then the service sponsor must obtain a written concurrence from the labor union and submit that concurrence along with its application. This section works along with the prohibitions on duplication of services and displacement of employees to ensure that AmeriCorps members are only used to address unmet needs. A need may be unmet because there is no service currently addressing the need, or because the magnitude of the need is greater than what can be met by the community alone. The concurrence of the relevant union provides an assurance that members will not displace current workers, and is further assurance that they will add value by either addressing a need that is currently not being addressed.
obtain a written concurrence from the labor union and submit that concurrence along with its application. This section works along with the prohibitions on duplication of services and displacement of employees to ensure that AmericOrps members are only used to address unmet needs. A need may be unmet because there is no service currently addressing the need, or because the magnitude of the need is greater than what can be met by the community alone. The concurrence of the relevant union provides an assurance that members will not displace current workers, and is further assurance that they will add value by either addressing a need that is currently not being addressed Clarify why a situation requiring labor at the local level, or by from the labor union and submit that concurrence along with its application. This section works along with the prohibitions on duplication of services and displacement of employees to ensure that AmeriCorps members are only used to address unmet needs. A need may be unmet because there is no service currently addressing the need, or because the magnitude of the need is greater than what can be met by the community alone. The concurrence of the relevant union provides an assurance that members will not displace current workers, and is further assurance that they will add value by either addressing a need that is currently not being addressed Clarify why a situation requiring labor at the local level, or by submit that concurrence along with its application. This section works along with the prohibitions on duplication of services and displacement of employees to ensure that AmeriCorps members are only used to address unmet needs. A need may be unmet because there is no service currently addressing the need, or because the magnitude of the need is greater than what can be met by the community alone. The concurrence of the relevant union provides an assurance that members will not displace current workers, and is further assurance that they will add value by either addressing a need that is currently not being addressed at the local level, or by with its application. This section works along with the prohibitions on duplication of services and displacement of employees to ensure that AmeriCorps members are only used to address unmet needs. A need may be unmet because there is no service currently addressing the need, or because the magnitude of the need is greater than what can be met by the community alone. The concurrence of the relevant union provides an assurance that members will not displace current workers, and is further assurance that they will add value by either addressing a need that is currently not being addressed at the local level, or by section works along with the prohibitions on duplication of services and displacement of employees to ensure that AmeriCorps members are only used to address unmet needs. A need may be unmet because there is no service currently addressing the need, or because the magnitude of the need is greater than what can be met by the community alone. The concurrence of the relevant union provides an assurance that members will not displace current workers, and is further assurance that they will add value by either addressing a need that is currently not being addressed at the local level, or by prohibitions on duplication of services and displacement of employees to ensure that AmeriCorps members are only used to address unmet needs. A need may be unmet because there is no service currently addressing the need, or because the magnitude of the need is greater than what can be met by the community alone. The concurrence of the relevant union provides an assurance that members will not displace current workers, and is further assurance that they will add value by either addressing a need that is currently not being addressed at the local level, or by services and displacement of employees to ensure that AmeriCorps members are only used to address unmet needs. A need may be unmet because there is no service currently addressing the need, or because the magnitude of the need is greater than what can be met by the community alone. The concurrence of the relevant union provides an assurance that members will not displace current workers, and is further assurance that they will add value by either addressing a need that is currently not being addressed at the local level, or by employees to ensure that AmeriCorps members are only used to address unmet needs. A need may be unmet because there is no service currently addressing the need, or because the magnitude of the need is greater than what can be met by the community alone. The concurrence of the relevant union provides an assurance that members will not displace current workers, and is further assurance that they will add value by either addressing a need that is currently not being addressed Clarify why a situation requiring labor AmeriCorps members are only used to address unmet needs. A need may be unmet because there is no service currently addressing the need, or because the magnitude of the need is greater than what can be met by the community alone. The concurrence of the relevant union provides an assurance that members will not displace current workers, and is further assurance that they will add value by either addressing a need that is currently not being addressed Clarify why a situation requiring labor at the local level, or by used to address unmet needs. A need may be unmet because there is no service currently addressing the need, or because the magnitude of the need is greater than what can be met by the community alone. The concurrence of the relevant union provides an assurance that members will not displace current workers, and is further assurance that they will add value by either addressing a need that is currently not being addressed at the local level, or by A need may be unmet because there is no service currently addressing the need, or because the magnitude of the need is greater than what can be met by the community alone. The concurrence of the relevant union provides an assurance that members will not displace current workers, and is further assurance that they will add value by either addressing a need that is currently not being addressed Clarify why a situation requiring labor at the local level, or by there is no service currently addressing the need, or because the magnitude of the need is greater than what can be met by the community alone. The concurrence of the relevant union provides an assurance that members will not displace current workers, and is further assurance that they will add value by either addressing a need that is currently not being addressed at the local level, or by addressing the need, or because the magnitude of the need is greater than what can be met by the community alone. The concurrence of the relevant union provides an assurance that members will not displace current workers, and is further assurance that they will add value by either addressing a need that is currently not being addressed Clarify why a situation requiring labor because the magnitude of the need is greater than what can be met by the community alone. The concurrence of the relevant union provides an assurance that members will not displace current workers, and is further assurance that they will add value by either addressing a need that is currently not being addressed Clarify why a situation requiring labor at the local level, or by need is greater than what can be met by the community alone. The concurrence of the relevant union provides an assurance that members will not displace current workers, and is further assurance that they will add value by either addressing a need that is currently not being addressed Clarify why a situation requiring labor at the local level, or by be met by the community alone. The concurrence of the relevant union provides an assurance that members will not displace current workers, and is further assurance that they will add value by either addressing a need that is currently not being addressed Clarify why a situation requiring labor at the local level, or by alone. The concurrence of the relevant union provides an assurance that members will not displace current workers, and is further assurance that they will add value by either addressing a need that is currently not being addressed Clarify why a situation requiring labor at the local level, or by assurance that members will not displace current workers, and is further assurance that they will add value by either addressing a need that is currently not being addressed Clarify why a situation requiring labor at the local level, or by					alone. The concurrence of the not displace current workers, and is further assurance that they will add value by either addressing a need that is currently not being addressed Clarify why a situation requiring labor at the local level, or by					relevant union provides an
and is further assurance that they will add value by either addressing a need that is currently not being addressed Clarify why a situation requiring labor at the local level, or by					assurance that members will
they will add value by either addressing a need that is currently not being addressed Clarify why a situation requiring labor at the local level, or by					not displace current workers, they will add value by either addressing a need that is currently not being addressed Clarify why a situation requiring labor at the local level, or by addressing a need that is currently not being addressed Clarify why a situation requiring labor at the local level, or by Clarify why a situation requiring labor at the local level, or by Clarify why a situation requiring labor at the local level, or by Clarify why a situation requiring labor union concurrence would not violate	expanding upon a service anti-duplication already being provided.				anti-duplication

		Make consistent whether it is advisable or required to seek approval from the other federal agency if an applicant is seeking to match other federal funds with Corporation funds.	OGC reviewed language, it will be retained.
		Improve the example of volunteer services contributed to organizations for organizational functions so that they are admin rather than personnel.	Examples have been improved.

				Programs should require members to serve the minimum number of hours for each education award slot type listed in the chart and pay a corresponding living allowance. However, if for a legitimate program design reason a program requires members to serve hours that do not correspond to the minimum numbers in the chart for the education award, the calculation to determine the maximum amount of living allowance that can be paid can be prorated based on the number of hours served as follows: (Number of hours served ÷ 1700) x $22,800.
				Example: (950 ÷ 1700) x $22,800 = $12,741. The education award cannot be pro-rated to correspond with the pro-rated living allowance. The amount of the education award is fixed for each slot Clarify whether the calculation of	type, regardless of any living allowance for less-than-full-time	additional required hours of members is based on the minimum	service imposed by the number of hours.	program.

	12/1/2008	Jason Patnosh, NACHC	Page 6, 2nd paragraph under National Professional Corps: remove "living allowance" and insert "salary". For Professional Corps positions the individuals are receiving a salary.	Although Professional Corps members receive a salary, we want to continue to refer to this as a more-than-the-maximum living allowance in order to avoid problems with employment and unemployment laws.
			Page 9, character count not to exceed 71,000. This amount should be increased for national directs as they need to provide snapshots of more geographic locations and the needs of those communities. A suggestion would be to allow brief descriptions of program sites that capture demographics, needs, etc. National directs have to answer for multiple "communities" hence questions asking to describe "target community" are inaccurate in their approach when talking with national directs.	We will not be increasing the character count maximum, and in fact, would prefer more focused and shorter applications. The application instructions request information of multiple site programs.
			"Success in Securing Match Resources"-this is redundant and has already been asked in other sections.	We recognize that success in securing match is requested twice; this is a flaw in the selection criteria as published in our regulations and will be fixed in rulemaking.

	1	Г	Г
		On Contractual, Staff Training and Member Training sections within eGrants, the fields for daily rates should be removed because in some cases there are not daily rates for training. Programs should be required to describe their training within the narrative and include consultant rates if necessary but the fields within eGrants do not necessarily portray an accurate description because programs have to complete in order for the cell to complete.	We will no longer require the daily rate fields to be filled.
		Page 42, Question 12-Areas Affected By Project. This space is very limited and gets cut off when printing.	We will make a technical fix so that Areas Affected by the Project is no longer truncated.
		Page 45, Section IV-Program Focus: There are multiple classifications for children that could be perceived as checking off multiple boxes (i.e., at risk youth could also be children of prisoners, foster children and K-12 students). Also, a low-income community could also be low-income housing residents. We are not sure if an accurate picture of programs is being painted when every box could be checked. Also, for national direct programs nearly every box could be checked to portray the program nationally, but not locally at every site.	We are considering deleting Appendix IV Program Focus, however, these fields are used for paneling peer reviewers, so they will probably be retained.

						We are considering simplifying the Performance Measures as
--	--	--	--	--	--	--