*!. You are eligible to take part in this study, let me tell you a little more about what we are doing. Project FACTS is a Family Health study at Cal State University, Dominguez Hills. In this project we are talking to parents to learn about how they communicate with their children about sex. If you choose to participate in this study, you will be asked to be part of a 60 to 90 minute focus group with up to 11 other moms (a focus group is small meeting in a room). The questions for discussion will focus on how family and culture influences you on how you talk to your child/ren about sex. Information that you provide this study will be kept secure by the research staff. Participation in this study is completely voluntary. The focus groups will be tape recorded. All of the focus groups will take place on the campus of California State University, Dominguez Hills on a Saturday morning. Each participant will receive a token of appreciation of $50 in cash.

Are you interested in participating?
