

We have good news. As a VA life insurance policyholder who is rated by VA as qualifying for Individual Unemployability, you may also be entitled to a waiver of your premiums. This letter will explain what "Waiver of Premiums" is and how it will affect your policy. It will also explain why we think you may qualify, and give you instructions for applying.

What is Waiver of Premiums?

Waiver of Premiums simply means if you are totally disabled and unable to work, you will not have to pay premiums. You will continue to have all the benefits and full coverage from your policy.

Why Do We Think You May Qualify?

The VA has rated you as qualifying for Individual Unemployability. The rules to qualify for Individual Unemployability and waiver of premiums are very similar. However, we need some additional information to determine if we can waive your premiums.
