

Supporting Statement for the Written Security Program for State Member Banks
(FR 4004; OMB No. 7100-0112)

Summary

The Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, under delegated authority from the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), proposes to extend for three years, without revision, the Written Security Program for State Member Banks (FR 4004; OMB No. 7100-0112). This mandatory information collection is a recordkeeping requirement contained in the Board's Regulation H Section 208.61. Each state member bank must develop and implement a written security program and maintain it in the bank's records. There is no formal reporting form and the information is not submitted to the Federal Reserve. The annual burden for the FR 4004 is estimated to be 22 hours (i.e., on average .5 hours per bank) for 43 state member banks, the average number of state member bank applications received annually during the past three years.

Background and Justification

The Congress adopted the Bank Protection Act of 1968 (12 U.S.C. § 1882) to promulgate rules establishing minimum standards for banks as to the installation, maintenance, and operation of security devices and procedures to discourage robberies, burglaries, and larcenies and to assist in the identification and apprehension of persons who commit such acts.

In response to the passage of the Bank Protection Act (Act), each of the federal financial institution supervisory agencies established minimum standards for security devices and procedures. The requirements established by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System in 1969 for state member banks were contained in Regulation P, Minimum Security Devices and Procedures for Federal Reserve Banks and State Member Banks. In the regulation, the Federal Reserve required the board of directors of each state member bank to designate a security officer to assume the responsibility for the development and administration of a written security program within 180 days of opening for business. The original Act also contained provisions that required financial institutions to submit periodic reports to their primary federal supervisory agency with respect to the installation, maintenance, and operation of security devices and the development of security procedures.

The Financial Institutions Reform, Recovery, and Enforcement Act of 1989 (FIRREA) included provisions that amended the Act. The provisions eliminated the requirement that each bank submit periodic reports to its regulator, but retained the requirement that each bank develop and implement a written security program. The Federal Reserve amended Regulation P in 1991 to reflect this change.¹

Effective October 1, 1998, Regulation P, was rescinded and its provisions were incorporated into Regulation H (12 CFR §208.61).² The Federal Reserve's action to incorporate Regulation P into Regulation H was designed to simplify compliance by consolidating regulatory requirements that apply to state member banks into one regulation.

The Federal Reserve has determined that Regulation H, section 208.61 continues to require the board of directors of each state member bank to designate a security officer to assume the responsibility for the development and administration of a written security program within 180 days of opening for business.

Description of Information Collection

Each state member bank must keep a written security program in its records. This program should include a requirement to install security devices and should establish procedures that satisfy minimum standards in the regulation, with the security officer determining the need for additional security devices and procedures based on the location of the banking office.

Time Schedule for Information Collection

Because the written security program is a recordkeeping requirement, copies of the program are not collected by the Federal Reserve System and are not published. Bank examiners verify compliance with this recordkeeping requirement during examinations of state member banks.

Legal Status

The Board's Legal Division has determined that section 3 of the Bank Protection Act [12 U.S.C. § 1882(a)] authorizes the Board to require the recordkeeping of this information. Section 208.61 of the Board's Regulation H [12 C.F.R. § 208.61] implements section 3 and sets forth bank security procedures for state member banks. Because written security programs are maintained at state member banks, no issue of confidentiality under the Freedom of Information Act normally arises. However, copies of such documents included in examination work papers would, in such form, be confidential pursuant to exemption 8 of the Freedom of Information Act [5 U.S.C. §552(b)(8)].

Consultation Outside the Agency

On February 2, 2010, the Federal Reserve published a notice in the Federal Register (75 FR 5320) requesting public comment for 60 days on the extension, without revision, of the FR 4004. The comment period for this notice expired on April 5, 2010. The Federal Reserve did not receive any comments on the extension. On April 16, 2010, the Federal Reserve published a final notice in the Federal Register (75 FR 19973) for the FR 4004.

Estimate of Respondent Burden

The annual recordkeeping burden for the FR 4004 is estimated to be 22 hours, as presented in the following table. The number of respondents is based on the average number of state member bank applications received annually during 2006 through 2008. The annual burden of this information collection represents less than 1 percent of the total Federal Reserve System paperwork burden.

The total cost to the public is estimated to be $1,356.³

Sensitive Questions

This collection of information contains no questions of a sensitive nature, as defined by OMB guidelines.

Estimate of Cost to the Federal Reserve System

Annual costs to the Federal Reserve System associated with this recordkeeping requirement are minimal because there are no reporting forms and the information is not submitted to the Federal Reserve.

³ Total cost to the public was estimated using the following formula. Percent of staff time, multiplied by annual burden hours, multiplied by hourly rate: 30% Administrative or Junior Analyst @ $25, 45% Managerial or Technical @ $55, 15% Senior Management @ $100, and 10% Legal Counsel @ $144. Hourly rate estimates for each occupational group are averages using data from the Bureau of Labor and Statistics (BLS), Occupational Employment and Wages 2007, www.bls.gov/news.release/ocwage.nr0.htm. Occupations are defined using the BLS Occupational Classification System, www.bls.gov/soc/.
