

Per OMB instructions in the NOA, and subsequent to a conference call conducted on February 12, 2010, FDA is submitting the final versions of the study instruments and related material after consideration of relevant additional information (including cognitive testing and pre-testing results) before implementing the full study.

Final versions of documents include:

Study 1 appendices

Study 1 experiment screenshots

Study 1 eye tracking study

Study 2 appendices

Study 2 experiment screenshots