Other change In August 2009, OMB approved the data collection for An Evaluation of Secondary Math Teachers from Two Highly Selective Routes to Alternative Certification (OMB# 1850-0866). To learn more about the use of incentives, OMB requested that we conduct an experiment on the effectiveness of providing incentives for the return of parent consent forms in school districts that require active parental consent for the administration of student assessments or collection of school records data. The attached memo documents the findings of that experiment to date.
