General Instructions:

Locations may be reported in two ways: 1) each may be reported separately (select "Submit Single Locations Using Online Form" above) or 2) a group of locations may be uploaded via spreadsheet (select "Submit Locations in Spreadsheet Format" above).

Report only locations where significant project activity took place during the grant period. Include areas reached by touring, broadcasts, and product distribution. Do not include places from which audiences may be drawn. If your project involves sub-granting, which will be indicated above, report the location of the sub-grant recipients and the sub-grant amounts.

If you do not see a Venue Type or Activity Type that exactly represents your activity, pick one that best describes the activity. For more information about the data fields "Venue Type" and "Venue Name," click here.

If you do not know the 4-digit ZIP code suffix of a location, please consult the USPS ZIP Code Lookup. If no 4-digit suffix is available for your venue location, please locate a nearby site within the same congressional district and use that location's nine-digit ZIP code. (Online map sites may be of assistance.)

If the same activity (e.g., a workshop or performance) occurred multiple times during the same month at the same place, you only need to report it once.

You will have the opportunity to review the location information before submitting it. You will not be able to change any information once you submit it. Click "View Previously Submitted Locations" above to see what information (if any) has already been submitted for this award.

You do not have to complete your report in one session. When you are finished entering all locations for your grant, select "Finalize Report" above.

Instructions for "Venue Types" and "Venue Names"

Certain project activities may not have obvious Venue Types, and should be treated in a particular manner, as follows:

- Internet. If the project activity being reported is primarily Web-based, choose "Web site" as the Venue Type. For the location information, provide the geographic location where the Web site material was produced, or where it is maintained, as relevant.
- CDs, DVDs, or similar media. If the project activity being reported involves the production of CDs, DVDs, or similar material, choose "CDs or DVDs" as the Venue Type. For the location information, provide the geographic location where the materials were produced, unless you can identify the specific distribution location(s).
- Printed Materials. If the project activity being reported involves the production of printed materials, choose "Printed Materials" as the Venue Type. For the location information, provide the geographic location where the materials were produced, unless you can specify the specific distribution location(s).

Similarly, certain Venue Types may not have obvious names, and should be treated in a particular manner, as follows:

- TV or Radio Station – if a carriage list is available, enter each radio station as a separate activity location; in this case, the Venue Name is the station call letters. Otherwise, the location will be the facility where the programming is produced.
- Web site – in most cases, the location will be the facility where the programming is produced; alternatively, it might be where the web site server is physically located.
- Printed Materials – if the distribution of these materials is tracked, the location will be the distribution end-point. Otherwise, the location will be where the materials were produced.
- CDs and DVDs – if the distribution of these materials is tracked, the location will be the distribution end-point. Otherwise, the location will be where the materials were produced.
