Introduction

This report contains the results of the 2009 Financial Institutions Reform, Recovery and Enforcement Act (FIRREA) Compensation Survey. The effective date for cash compensation data is March 1, 2009. This report contains a variety of analyses which are described below. The survey focuses on cash compensation data including annual base salary, adjusted annual base salary, locality pay or geographic differentials, target short-term incentives, short-term incentive/bonus, other cash compensation, total cash compensation, and adjusted total cash compensation data. In addition, information on organization characteristics, and a variety of policy and practices information were also included in the survey.

Survey Scope

The survey targeted 99 organizations, of which 31 agreed to participate. A list of the participants is included in the Overview of Survey Participants. These organizations have a median total full-time employment of 1,407 employees at their reported locations.

Data was collected on 59 positions, providing data on a total of 17,735 employees.

Supporting Documents

The following are the subsequent sections of the report:

- Overview of Survey Participants - includes characteristics of participating organizations as well as a participant list.
- FIRREA Responses - included is a presentation of the positions to which each FIRREA agency has matched.
- Guide to Finding and Using Compensation Data - included are statistical publication guidelines and suggestions for using the survey results.
- Explanation of Data Presentation Terms - explains the layout of a Position Comparison Table, as well as the components.
- Position Descriptions - provides a list of the benchmark positions and their descriptions.
- Policies and Practices - presents information on a variety of policies and practices information.
- Position Comparison Tables - presents data for annual base salary, adjusted annual base salary, locality pay or geographic differentials, target short-term incentives, short-term incentive/bonus, other cash compensation, total cash compensation, and adjusted total cash compensation data.
- Glossary of Terms - presents definitions of terms used within the report.

Compensation Data Presentations

The compensation data is organized by position for the following three groupings: All Organizations, All Federal Financial Regulatory Agencies (FIRREAs), and All Financial, All Federal Reserve Banks, and All FIRREAs. The data is also presented in a variety of geographic consolidated metropolitan statistical areas. See the Guide to Finding and Using the Compensation Data in the Report and the Explanation of Data Presentation Terms for more information.

Survey Methodology

In accordance with our objective to publish only the most accurate and representative information possible, each questionnaire is thoroughly reviewed by compensation professionals and our proprietary data diagnostic programs before it is included in the database. The data is further reviewed using statistical modeling techniques, and survey respondents are contacted to confirm job matches, discuss high and low points of the data, and clarify specific rate and policy questions.

The results of any survey are highly dependent upon the quality of the data provided by participants. We take all appropriate measures to ensure that the input received from participants is accurate and complete. Our survey project teams carefully review each individual data submission to resolve omissions, inconsistencies, or other questionable input; they verify any questionable data directly with the participant.

Data input methodologies, data verification and proprietary data diagnostics programs are coupled with our survey professional's expertise and experience to resolve any anomalies, yielding a complete and accurate survey data base. Our quality assurance process is followed in this and all phases of conducting surveys and publishing survey results to ensure that all survey materials are reviewed by multiple team members.

Watson Wyatt Data Services (WWDS) will only publish statistics that comply with antitrust guidelines. Salary and total compensation data will be published only when five or more organizations have provided data for a given location or industry. All published statistics are consistent with recognized statistical standards and principles. At the time of release, published data will be at least three months old from the effective date of the data reported by survey respondents.

Data reported by individual companies may represent more than 30 percent of aggregate data statistics and will be flagged as such. Any information disseminated is aggregated so that individual company data cannot be identified and WWDS ensures and maintains the confidentiality of individual company data. Under no circumstances will we disclose individual data.

Guide to Finding and Using the Compensation Data in the Report

Guide to Finding and Using the Compensation Data in the Report

Locating Compensation Data in this Report

Organization of Compensation Data Presentations

Compensation data in the printed report is organized by position and separated into three categories: All Organizations, All Federal Financial Regulatory Agencies and All Financials, Federal Reserve Banks & Federal Financial Regulatory Agencies. The data presentation for each position begins with an All Organization Summary that shows compensation data on a national basis and includes all participants.

Geographic Analysis

Geographic data is presented for consolidated metropolitan areas (as sample size permits). All areas are presented alphabetically. For example, the data contributed by organizations in Alexandria, Fairfax, and other proximate Northern Virginia cities will be found in the following geographic grouping, described as follows:

Consolidated Metropolitan Area:

Washington-Baltimore-Northern Virginia, DC-MD-VA

Suggestions for Using the Data in this Report

Organizations determine pay levels for any given position based on a variety of factors. Among these are the competitive pay levels of similar positions in similar geographic areas, industries and organization scope (e.g., revenue, assets, as well as the organization's compensation philosophy).

The use of valid, statistically-based information such as survey data minimizes uncertainty in compensation decision-making. Frequently, the only competitive information available is that developed through the use of survey methodology. While WWDS surveys are professionally tended, the following guidelines will help to reduce the likelihood of misjudgment and enhance your confidence in any decisions reached.

1. When making comparisons to survey data, the first step should always be to compare the duties and responsibilities of the position under consideration to the survey position description. This survey position description forms the basis for the collection of the survey data. Job titles should not be used in isolation since they can often be misleading as to job content.
2. When using the compensation data contained in this report, take time to review the data presented. For example, a few disproportionately high or low salaries reported for a position can influence the sample in a way that may make it less representative of the population. In such an instance, the average and weighted average salaries reported for the position may be less indicative of the central tendency of the population than the median value. One way to detect such an effect is through a comparison of the median, average and weighted average salaries. The extent to which they differ is an indication of the degree to which a few disproportionately high or low salaries are represented in the data.
3. It is WWDS policy to provide data in compliance with antitrust guidelines. Generally, it is more useful when making a decision to have some representative data than to have no data at all. Consideration of the number of reporting organizations and incumbents in the position will aid in understanding the breadth of representation in the sample. If the number of incumbents in the position reported closely matches the number of reporting organizations, the relative influence of the organizations reporting is more evenly balanced.

Updating Survey Data

Most compensation professionals apply some type of update factor to survey data in order to keep pace with changes in the marketplace that may have occurred since the data was collected. A typical approach is to use anticipated salary growth (represented by current labor market data on salary increase budgets) in conjunction with the number of months elapsed since the effective date of the salary data, as illustrated in the following example:

1. The prorated monthly estimate of the current year's budgeted salary increase figure (6.0% for this example) is divided by 12 (the number of months in a year).

$$6.0\% \quad \div \quad 12 \quad = \quad 0.5\%$$

2. The prorated monthly estimate (0.5% for this example) is multiplied by the number of elapsed months since the effective date of the data. Assuming the data was effective as of March 1 and the desired update is to November 1, eight months have elapsed for purposes of this example.

$$0.5\% \quad \times \quad 8 \quad = \quad 4.0\%$$

3. The prorated eight-month salary increase estimate (4.0%) is added to the March 1 average salary for the position and survey in question ($30,000 for this example) to estimate the average November 1 salary.

$$$30,000 \quad \times \quad .04 \quad = \quad $1,200$$

$$$30,000 \quad + \quad $1,200 \quad = \quad $31,200$$

This approach is generally valid in times of relative economic stability. During periods of fluctuating inflation or recession, the figure should be adjusted upward or downward as the economic climate dictates. Due to numerous internal and external factors that affect compensation, WWDS does not recommend aging data beyond 18 months.

Calculating a Salary Range Minimum and Maximum

The following shows how to calculate a salary range minimum and maximum around a given midpoint when the desired salary range spread (the percentage difference between minimum and maximum) has been established.

Let Y symbolize the desired range spread

Let S symbolize the planned midpoint of the salary range

The formula for the limits (Minimum and Maximum) is:

$$S \pm \{ S [Y/(2+Y)] \}$$

For example, if the desired range spread is 60% and the midpoint is $50,000, the limits are:

$$\text{Desired range spread} = Y = 60\%$$

$$\text{Planned salary range midpoint} = S = $50,000$$

$$\begin{aligned}\text{Minimum} &= S - \{ S [Y/(2+Y)] \} \\ &= $50,000 - \{ $50,000 [.60/(2 + .60)] \} \\ &= $50,000 - \{ $50,000 (.23) \} \\ &= $50,000 - \{ $11,500 \} \\ \text{Minimum} &= $38,500\end{aligned}$$

$$\begin{aligned}\text{Maximum} &= S + \{ S [Y/(2+Y)] \} \\ &= $50,000 + \{ $50,000 [.60/(2 + .60)] \} \\ &= $50,000 + \{ $50,000 (.23) \} \\ &= $50,000 + \{ $11,500 \} \\ \text{Maximum} &= $61,500\end{aligned}$$

So, for a planned salary range midpoint of $50,000 and a range spread of 60%, the minimum and maximum of the range are $38,500 and $61,500 respectively.

With the exception of organization weighted average, the following statistics are calculated based on individual incumbent data.

Organization Weighted Average: A simple arithmetic average is calculated by adding all occurrences of data, e.g., the average salary for a given job as reported by each survey participant, and dividing the result by the number of participants. Averages weigh each participant's input on an equal basis, regardless of the number of incumbents reported.

Incumbent Weighted Average: An average calculated by multiplying each occurrence of data by a weighting factor, e.g., average salary reported by the number of incumbents in the position at each reporting company. The results are added and then divided by the weighting of that factor, i.e., the total number of incumbents reported.

25th Percentile: The value in an array that falls at the first quarter, or 25th percentile, of the sample. Seventy-five percent, or three-fourths, of the values in the sample are greater in magnitude than the 25th percentile value.

Median: The value in the middle of an odd numbered array of data when the values are ordered by magnitude. Half of the values in the sample fall above this number and half fall below it. When the array contains an even number of values, the median is midway between the central values.

75th Percentile: The value in an array that falls at the third quarter, or 75th percentile, of a sample. Twenty-five percent, or one-fourth, of the values in the sample is greater in magnitude than the 75th percentile value.

Position Comparison Tables

Position: 0678 Supervisory Economist (Section Chief)

Position Description:

Has overall responsibility for the output of the primary organizational unit within an economic research division. Designs and supervises a program of economic research to provide in-depth analysis of the US economy and international developments. Prepares and implements programs for the analysis of ongoing economic developments, the production of economic statistics, regulation of financial markets, and forecasts of real and financial variables, which serve as inputs to the formulation and implementation of the organization's national economic policy. Has in-depth knowledge in a wide array of economic areas, as well as demonstrated professional scope and substantial achievements that satisfy the qualifications of a Senior Economist. Additionally, the Chief bears a much broader set of managerial responsibilities. Consults directly with senior management, and, at times, with the head of the organization and other members of the organization's governing body. Typically requires a Ph.D. in economics or statistics.

Position: 0678 Supervisory Economist (Section Chief)

Glossary of Terms

Glossary of Terms

The survey reports present compensation information on all segments of the workforce. As a result, there is substantial continuity in the formats and content of data presentations from report to report. At the same time, each report is designed to provide data that is most pertinent to the specific types of jobs covered in the report as well as the expressed needs of subscribers. As a result of these variations in reports, some of the terms and scope factors contained in this Glossary do not appear in every report.

Assets: The total value, as of the last fiscal year, of all property having commercial or exchange value owned by a business, corporation or institution that may be used to discharge its liabilities.

Asset Size Group: Dollar range used to group organizations of similar asset size.

Average (Mean): A simple arithmetic average is calculated by adding all occurrences of data, e.g., the average salary for a given job as reported by each survey participant, and dividing the result by the number of occurrences, i.e., the number of participants. Averages, or means, weigh each participant's input on an equal basis, regardless of the number of incumbents reported.

Bonus: Bonuses can be paid from a formal plan or can be discretionary in nature. Generally, bonuses result from overall organizational financial results or a combination of financial results and individual performance.

Compa-Ratio: Current base salary divided by the salary range midpoint for each employee reported with both base salary and midpoint. The calculation is then averaged for all employees.

Credit Card Loans: All credit extended to individuals, or commercial or industrial enterprises through credit cards and related plans -- outstanding at year-end, net of unearned discount.

Dividend Equivalent: Plans that grant a number of units to an executive, each of which creates rights to a payment equal to any dividends paid on a share of the company's stock. Dividend equivalent plans are similar to phantom stock option plans, except that payment is limited to dividend equivalents and does not include any stock price appreciation.

Executive: Employees in top-level management positions; they have major, organization-wide decision-making authority and responsibility for their functional area.

Exempt, Non-Management: Employees are "doers" with well-established work procedures. They are typically professional level employees, and are not required to be paid overtime under the provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA).

First Quartile (25th Percentile): The value in an array that falls at the first quarter, or 25th percentile, of the sample. Seventy-five percent, or three-fourths, of the values in the sample are greater in magnitude than the first quartile value.

FLSA Status: Refers to whether or not a particular position is exempt from the overtime provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act.

Full-Time Equivalent (FTE) Employment: The number of U.S. full-time employees plus part-time employees converted to full-time equivalents. To convert part-timers to FTEs, sum all part-time hours and divide by baseline annual hours (e.g., 40 weekly hours x 52 weeks = 2,080 annual hours). This number is then added to the number of full-time employees to give you the total number of full-time equivalent (FTE) employees.

Grant Value: The number of shares or units multiplied by the stock/unit price at the time of the grant.

Hiring Rate: Rate paid to new hires.

Hourly Rate: The rate of pay paid to incumbents expressed in dollars and cents per hour. To convert an annual salary to an hourly rate, first convert the annual base pay to a weekly base pay by dividing by 52, then divide the weekly rate by the number of hours in the organization's standard workweek.

Incentive: Compensation paid under a bonus, commission, profit-sharing, or other short-term cash compensation plan that provides awards based on management discretion or established criteria, such as the overall performance of the organization, achievement of goals, etc.

Income From Fiduciary Activities: Gross income from services rendered by the bank's trust department or by any of its consolidated subsidiaries acting in any fiduciary capacity. Does not include commissions and fees received for the accumulation or disbursement of funds deposited to IRAs or Keogh Plans when they are not handled by the trust department.

Industry: This designation refers to the primary industry classification of a reporting organization.

Long-Term Incentive: Variable compensation related typically to individual and/or company/group performance. Examples are stock option plans, performance share or unit plans, and restricted stock plans. Awards made under plans of these types are always in recognition of results longer than 12 months.

Long-Term Incentive Cash: A cash-based incentive plan whose performance cycle/period is longer than one year. Generally, performance periods in Long-Term Incentive cash plans are three years. Target awards under this type of plan are established and denominated in cash though the actual form of the award could be stock.

Management, Excluding Executives: Employees who have decision-making authority that has some impact on the organization, along with the delegation of authority to lower level employees. They exercise the usual authority of a manager concerning staffing, performance appraisals, promotions, salary recommendations and terminations.

Median (50th Percentile): The value in the middle of an odd numbered array of data when the values are ordered by magnitude. Half of the values in the sample fall above this number and half fall below it. When the array contains an even number of values, the median is midway between the central values.

Nonexempt Hourly: Employees who are hourly and paid overtime under the provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA).

Nonexempt Salaried: Employees who are salaried and paid overtime under the provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA).

Operating Budget: All financial expenditures made (excluding capital expenditures) by the organization during the last fiscal year.

Operating Revenue: In health care, it is net patient revenue plus other revenue such as government grants, endowments, contributions, etc.

Other Cash Compensation: Short-term cash compensation paid under variable pay or alternative reward programs that may include the following:

- Current Cash Profit Sharing
- Commission/Override
- Team/Small Group Incentives
- Individual Incentives
- Gainsharing Awards
- Key Contributor Retention Awards
- Spot Awards
- Technical Achievement Awards
- Lump Sum Merit Pay
- All other similar short-term cash payments, e.g., holiday bonuses

Percentile: A value identified by its position in an array, below which the data falls.

10th Percentile: The value in an array below which falls 10% of the sample and above which lies 90% of the sample. Together with the 90th percentile, a range of data can be identified that eliminates extremes in the sample and provides a more realistic dispersion of data.

25th Percentile: The value in an array below which falls 25% of the sample. Seventy-five percent, or three-fourths, of the values in the sample are greater in magnitude than the 25th percentile value.

50th Percentile (Median): The value in the middle of an odd numbered array of data when the values are ordered by magnitude. Half of the values in the sample fall above this number and half fall below it. When the array contains an even number of values, the median is midway between the central values.

75th Percentile: The value in an array below which falls 75% of the sample. Twenty-five percent, or one-fourth, of the values in the sample are greater in magnitude than the 75th percentile value.

90th Percentile: The value in an array below which falls 90% of a sample and above which lies 10% of the sample. Together with the 10th percentile, a range of data can be identified that eliminates extremes in the sample and provides a more realistic dispersion of data.

Percentile Calculation Guidelines: Percentiles can be calculated by locating the desired rank, or position, in an array of data points and applying the formula:

$$J(N+1)/100$$

J = the rank of the desired percentile (e.g., 10 for 10th percentile, 90 for the 90th percentile, etc.)

N = the number of data points

For example, the 10th percentile in an array of 49 salaries is the value of the fifth position in the array.

$$\begin{aligned} \text{10th Percentile} &= 10(49+1)/100 \\ &= 500/100 \\ &= 5.0 \end{aligned}$$

When there is no value in an array that corresponds exactly to the desired percentile or quartile, it may be interpolated. For example, the position of the 10th percentile in an array of 16 salaries is 0.7 of the way between the first and second salaries in the array.

$$\begin{aligned} \text{10th Percentile} &= 10(16+1)/100 \\ &= 170/100 \\ &= 1.7 \end{aligned}$$

Performance Share/Units: “Share” plans contingently grant stock units that entitle the individual to actual shares of stock or their cash equivalent at time of payment, if predetermined objectives are achieved. The unit of value may appreciate or decline between the initial award and the payment date. “Unit” plans contingently grant units that entitle an individual to cash payments or their equivalent in stock if predetermined objectives are achieved. The unit value is fixed at the time of the award.

Phantom Stock: Plans that grant a number of units to an individual, each of which creates rights to a payment equal to any appreciation that occurs in the market value of a share of company stock between the date of grant and some future date, often accompanied by dividend equivalent payments. Phantom plans differ from other stock incentive plans in that no stock is actually transferred to a participating individual.

Product/Service Type: This designation represents the majority of a reporting organization’s product and services available for sale (i.e., consumer or industrial).

Ratio of Median Salary to All Organization Median: The relationship of the median salary, expressed as a percent, to the median salary of the position for All Organizations. The [median salary divided by the All Organizations median salary] multiplied by 100.

Real Estate Loans Closed: The total dollar amount of all real estate loans closed or purchased during the year.

Responsibility Level: An indication of a position's decision-making responsibility and management's reliance on the position to make such decisions.

Restricted Stock: Awards from these types of plans are made in the form of shares of company stock. Actual shares of stock are credited to the employee, but the shares carry restrictions regarding continued employment with the organization for a specified period of time, during which the executive is not permitted to sell stock. Restricted Stock Awards serve as a “retention” device.

Salary: Fixed compensation paid weekly, monthly, or annually (rather than hourly), typically to jobs exempt from FLSA provisions, excluding any variable payments, such as bonus/incentive, other cash compensation, overtime payments or shift differentials.

Salary Range: A formal range of salaries that establishes the lowest and highest salary an organization is willing to pay for a given job.

Minimum: The bottom value in an established salary range, representing the lowest salary at which an employee in the position could be paid.

Midpoint: The middle value in an established salary range, representing the salary midway between the established minimum and maximum.

Maximum: The top value in an established salary range, representing the highest salary at which an employee in the position could be paid.

Sales Contests/Product SPIFFs: Sales Contest and Product SPIFFs are typically based on individual sales performance. They are not part of the sales incentives; they are separate and distinct from the sales incentive and may be earned regardless of the sales incentive plan. Product SPIFFs (Sales Performance Incentive Funding Formula) are incentives for performance in selling a particular product(s).

Sales Incentive (e.g., commissions, quota achievement plans): Sales Incentives are paid from formal sales compensation plans regardless of whether they are earned through commission rates or goal-based bonus formulas. Generally, sales incentives result from achieving specific sales results and can be tied to individual or sales team performance. They can also be earned from results of the organization as a whole where this measure provides an opportunity to earn a portion of target incentive under the sales incentive plan.

Sales/Revenue: Any income received by a company, group, division or subsidiary in exchange for goods or services.

SAR (Stock Appreciation Rights): Provide an individual with an election to receive an amount of cash or stock equal to the difference between current market value of company stock and the option price in lieu of exercising an underlying stock option. This allows the individual to receive an amount equal to the appreciation in the stock's value without raising the money that would be needed to exercise the stock option.

Scope Grouping: A display of compensation data arrayed in either a discrete or overlapping group based on, for example, annual sales, total assets (financial services organizations), operating revenue and total full-time equivalent (FTE) employment (not-for-profit organizations). Compensation information in each grouping represents the data for only those companies within each grouping parameter, allowing for an analysis of the impact of the organizational size measure on compensation.

Servicing Portfolio: The total dollar amount of all first residential and income (investment) property mortgage loans serviced by the company, as of year-end. Includes both loans that are carried on the books as assets and those that are not carried on the books.

Stock Options: These plans provide an individual with the right to purchase a specified number of shares of company stock at a fixed price over a stated time period (e.g., Nonqualified Stock Options or Incentive Stock Options). [Nonqualified Stock Options (NQSOs): Can be granted at a price below fair market value. The option may be exercised (i.e., shares of company stock may be bought from the company) at any time during the option period, unless exercise restrictions are placed on the option.] [Incentive Stock Options (ISOs): If the options meet specific requirements (e.g., the option price must be equal to or greater than the fair market value at grant, stock must be held for one year after exercise and two years after grant), then the executive is not taxed until sale of the stock (i.e., not taxed at exercise).]

Target Bonus: Formally established bonus and/or other cash compensation to be paid for the achievement of established performance criteria or goals.

Third Quartile (75th Percentile): The value in an array that falls at the third quarter, or 75th percentile, of a sample. Twenty-five percent, or one-fourth, of the values in the sample are greater in magnitude than the third quartile value.

Time-Lapse Restricted Stock/Units: The grant of restricted stock or restricted stock units with a vesting schedule based solely on the lapse of time. Company or individual performance has no effect on the vesting of the grant.

Total Assets: The consolidated assets of the reporting entity as of year-end.

Total Cash Compensation: The sum of base pay, bonus, and other direct cash compensation payments from variable pay programs.

Total Direct Compensation: The sum of salary, bonus or other cash compensation and the expected value of long-term incentive awards.

Weighted Average: An average calculated by multiplying each occurrence of data by a weighting factor, e.g., average salary reported by the number of incumbents in the position at each reporting company. The results are added and then divided by the weighting of that factor, i.e., the total number of incumbents reported.

Calculation of Weighted Average Salary

	Average Salary Reported	# of Incumbents in Position	Average Salary Reported Multiplied by # of Reported Incumbents
Organization #1	$ 38,300 _____	X 2	= $ 76,600
Organization #2	$ 42,700 _____	X 3	= $ 128,100
Organization #3	$ 43,500 _____	X 5	= $ 217,500
Organization #4	$ 40,100 _____	X 2	= $ 80,200
Organization #5	$ 44,600 _____	X 6	= $ 267,600
Organization #6	$ 48,200 _____	X 12	= $ 578,400
Total	$ 257,400	30	= $ 1,348,400
$$1,348,400 \div 30 \text{ (total # of reported incumbents)} =$
Weighted Average Salary of $44,947

Year of Service: A year of service is a twelve-month period during which an employee works at least 1,000 hours. Years of service are used for participation, vesting, and the determination of accrued benefits.
