Welcome to Performance Improvement and Measurement System

As required by the Government Performance and Review Act (1993), all federal agencies must develop strategic plans, describing their overall goals and objectives. These "GPRA Plans" must provide annual performance reports containing quantifiable measures of each program's progress in meeting the stated goals and objectives.

The performance assessment instruments developed by the Office for the Advancement of Telehealth (OAT) with its grantees will fulfill GPRA requirements to report to Congress on the impact of OAT's telehealth grant programs. Moreover, OAT hopes to use the information derived from these instruments to demonstrate the "value-added" that telehealth services contribute to improving health care. OAT has incorporated these performance assessment tools into the routine reporting required as part of the "mid-year or mid-cycle" and annual reports required under your grant. Each of the programs will also get reports comparing themselves to the entire set of grantees, on these same measures.

There will be two data reporting periods each year; during these biannual reporting periods, data should be reported for the previous six months of activity. Programs will have approximately six weeks to enter their data during each biannual reporting period.

Welcome to Performance Improvement and Measurement System

As required by the Government Performance and Review Act (1993), all federal agencies must develop strategic plans, describing their overall goals and objectives. These "GPRA Plans" must provide annual performance reports containing quantifiable measures of each program's progress in meeting the stated goals and objectives.

The performance assessment instruments developed by the Office for the Advancement of Telehealth (OAT) with its grantees will fulfill GPRA requirements to report to Congress on the impact of OAT's telehealth grant programs. Moreover, OAT hopes to use the information derived from these instruments to demonstrate the "value-added" that telehealth services contribute to improving health care. OAT has incorporated these performance assessment tools into the routine reporting required as part of the "mid-year or mid-cycle" and annual reports required under your grant. Each of the programs will also get reports comparing themselves to the entire set of grantees, on these same measures.

There will be two data reporting periods each year; during these biannual reporting periods, data should be reported for the previous six months of activity. Programs will have approximately six weeks to enter their data during each biannual reporting period.

Grantee: Demo Program
Current Report Period: 9/1/2006 - 12/31/2006
Report Due Date: 01/31/2008

Welcome to Performance Improvement and Measurement System

As required by the Government Performance and Review Act (1993), all federal agencies must develop strategic plans, describing their overall goals and objectives. These "GPRA" Plans" must provide annual performance reports containing quantifiable measures of each program's progress in meeting the stated goals and objectives.

The performance measures developed by the Office of Rural Health and Policy (ORHP) with its grantees will fulfill GPRA requirements to report to Congress on the impact of ORHP's grant programs. Moreover, ORHP hopes to use the data from PIMS to assess the impact that ORHP programs have on rural communities and to enhance ongoing quality improvement. ORHP has incorporated these performance measures as a requirement for all ORHP grant programs in order to achieve the stated objectives

Thank you taking the time to document your program's data in PIMS. We welcome your comments and should you have any questions, please contact the Data Coordinator, Anthony Achampong at aachampong@hrsa.gov or at 301 594 4429.

For technical help please call HRSA Call Center 1-877-Go4-HRSA (1-877-464-4772) or email CallCenter@hrsa.gov

1. Specialties and Services

This form allows you to report the number of encounters by specialty/service, by patient care setting, and by type of TM encounter. This is the basic set of 'volume' data OAT will use in describing to Congress the breadth and depth of the grant program.

To complete this form, you will need to have been collecting information during each TM session or encounter, all through the reporting period. For each TM encounter, you will need to know and report: the patient setting, the specialty or service, the TM format, and whether a patient was present.

Click on each patient setting to enter data on the encounters that took place for patients in that setting. Enter the number of encounters for each specialty that took place in that patient setting. Each specialty/service has four columns where data can be entered.

Definitions - Encounter Types:

- Interactive/Real-Time Encounters (IN): Encounters done in an interactive (real-time) video-conferencing format.
- Patient-Present Encounters (PP): Interactive encounters where the patient is present during the consultation.
- Patient-Not-Present Encounters (NP):

1.1. Homecare

Many OAT programs are now involved in tele-homecare, meeting the needs of homebound patients, especially those who require frequent monitoring. Home health agencies and insurers are interested in improving quality of homecare without increasing costs. Demonstrating the advantages of telemedicine for homebound patients may be useful as you interact with HHAs and insurers. Tele-home care offers many advantages, including reduced travel time and improved productivity through tele-visits compared to in-person home health visits, and improved access/quality through adding care that would not have occurred without telehealth technology.

Most telehealth programs already ask telehealth home nurses to fill out forms reporting date, time, purpose, etc. of their televisits. To demonstrate the progress being made by your tele-homecare program, we suggest that you gather three pieces of information on each tele-home health visit. For this purpose, you would modify your nurse's forms and ask them to record, for each home telehealth visit:

1. Would you have made this visit to the patient's home in-person, if telemedicine were not available? Yes No
2. Roundtrip miles to the patient's home. _____ Miles
3. Estimated roundtrip drive time to this patient's home. _____ Minutes
