E. FALCONRY PERMIT
(Migratory Bird Treaty Act, 50 CFR 21.28)

Note: A falconry permit is required to possess and train raptors for falconry and to practice the sport of falconry. To become a falconer, you should begin by contacting your State wildlife agency and meet the requirements for the State falconry permit. We also recommend that you contact your State falconry association (<http://www.n-a-f-a.com/StateClubs.htm>).*

A falconer begins as an Apprentice, then may graduate to a General falconer, then a Master falconer. If you wish to become an Apprentice falconer, you will need to find a Master falconer to be your sponsor. Your State wildlife agency or falconry association can provide more information.

Until recently, both a State and a Federal falconry permit were required for falconry. However, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (Service) and the States are in the process of shifting to new regulations under which a falconry permit would only be needed from the State. States that have adopted the new Federal regulations are posted at <http://www.fws.gov/migratorybirds/mbpermits.html> (see "Revised Falconry Regulations"). If you live in a State that has adopted the new Federal regulations, you do not need a Federal permit and do not need to complete this application. Contact your State wildlife agency to obtain your State falconry permit.

The Service will approve States that meet the requirements of the new Federal regulations near the end of each year. The Federal permit requirement will be eliminated in those States beginning January 1 of the following year. The new Federal regulations are posted at <http://www.fws.gov/policy/library/2008/E8-23226.pdf>.

If you do not live in a State that has adopted the new regulations, the old regulations apply. They are in two sections: http://edocket.access.gpo.gov/cfr_2007/octqtr/pdf/50cfr21.28.pdf and http://edocket.access.gpo.gov/cfr_2007/octqtr/pdf/50cfr21.29.pdf. In most of these States, the issuance of a falconry permit is a joint State/Federal process. In such States, you need only apply to your State for a falconry permit; the Service will cosign the State permit. (Note: You may be required to file a Federal permit application with your Federal Migratory Bird Permit Office if your State falconry application does not meet Federal information requirements.)

In States that do not issue a joint State/Federal permit you must obtain your State permit before you apply for a Federal permit. Your State falconry permit is not valid until your Federal falconry permit is issued. Contact your State wildlife agency for information about the required examination and facility inspection.

This application is the Federal permit application. Complete and submit this application only if your State has not adopted the new Federal regulations and does not participate in the joint State/Federal permitting process. If you are under 18 years of age, your parent or guardian must sign beside your signature on page 1 of this application. Once completed, submit the form to the Fish and Wildlife Service Migratory Bird Permit Office responsible for your State (see attached list of permit offices).

Please provide the following information:

1. The address where your raptors will be housed, if different from your residence.

2. A copy of your State raptor facilities and equipment inspection report.
3. If you are applying for an Apprentice falconry permit, provide a letter from your sponsor indicating his or her willingness to sponsor you. The letter must include your sponsor's name, address, telephone number, and Federal falconry permit number.
4. You must retain records relating to the activities conducted under your permit for at least 5 years after the date of expiration of your permit. Is the physical address you provided in Section C on page 1 of this application the address where your records will be kept? Yes No If "no", provide the physical address.

5. A copy of your State permit to conduct this activity, if available.
