

“Dance Club”

Open on a pretty young woman. She’s wearing a club dress, and dancing as lights flash and swirl around her.

Suddenly, the deep, powerful voice of authority stops her in her tracks ....

Hey! Get down offa there!!!

Cut to a police officer.

He motions to her, and then turns his attention back to what he was doing before she distracted him .... administering a breathalyzer test to her boyfriend.

VO:     *The party’s over.
Police are cracking down on drinking and driving.

Cut to the boyfriend, being guided into the back of the police cruiser, where his girlfriend has already been placed.

“Invisible Cops”

A young man and woman leave a nightspot and start towards their car parked up the street. They stagger a little and talk and laugh a bit too loudly. It's obvious they've been drinking.

There's a dark eeriness to the scene.
The music is odd and disconcerting.
The feeling is uneasy and anxious.

They walk past a police officer who is camouflaged so well against a wall that while the guy thinks he sees something, he's not sure, so he carries on walking.

They get into their car and begin to pull away.
As they do, a previously 'invisible' officer steps forward, and speaks into the radio on his lapel.

Up ahead, a cruiser parked on the side of the road hits the lights, and pulls the offenders over.

VO: Cops are cracking down on drinking and driving.
And they'll see you...before you see them.
