Dear [Mr./Ms] [first name, last name],

In [month] 2010, you applied to the [program name] in [City name] and were recruited to be part of a study, called the Reintegration of Ex-Offenders (RExO) evaluation. When you agreed to participate, you were told that you would be paid for your participation in upcoming interviews. I am writing to invite you to participate in a telephone interview about your experiences throughout the last year, whether you actually participated in the [program name] or not. You will be asked about your employment, earnings, any employment support you have received throughout the last year, and any involvement you may have had with the criminal justice system. For completing the interview, you will receive $40 in compensation. The telephone interview will take approximately 20 to 30 minutes of your time.

Within the limits of the law, your responses will be kept completely private and not reported to the Department of Labor or any other entities in a manner that allows anyone to trace a response to you individually.

You will receive $40 for completing the interview. Please call us at [number] to participate. If we do not hear from you, we will attempt to reach you to schedule an interview appointment or complete the interview.

This is an important study by the U.S. Department of Labor to review the effectiveness of programs like [program name]. It is essential that we receive information from all participants in the study, whether they actually entered the program or not. Your assistance is greatly appreciated. If you have questions about the research study, please call the RExO toll-free number at xxx-xxx-xxxx.

Sincerely,

C. M. Johnson
Project Director
