Hi Janice,
NORC prepared these for us, and I checked them with Jackie Falkenheim from NCSES.
Hope this will work.
Please forward them to Suzanne Plimpton and OMB.
Hope this works.

Subject: RE: last few points from OMB

Hi Carol,

Here are our revised questions for the two OMB comments that you sent. For the race and ethnicity questions, OMB would like us to adapt the OMB standards. For the disability questions, they would like us to adopt the categories used in the American Community Survey (ACS). I've pulled the ACS questions for both race/ethnicity and disability and put them next to the current GRFP versions below. However, I do not believe that they want us to adopt the ACS race/ethnicity questions, but rather to alter our current version to remove the "two or more races" category, and instead allow multiple selections to that question. The OMB standards in question read:

-When self-identification is used, a method for reporting more than one race should be adopted.

- The method for respondents to report more than one race should take the form of multiple responses to a single question and not a "multiracial" category.
 - When a list of races is provided to respondents, the list should not contain a "multiracial" category.
 - Based on research conducted so far, two recommended forms for the instruction accompanying the multiple response question are "Mark one or more ..." and "Select one or more...."
- (Source: OMB website on Revisions to the Standards for the Classification of Federal Data on Race and Ethnicity, <http://www.census.gov/population/www/socdemo/race/Ombdir15.html>)

I've included below a revised version of the GRFP question that hews to these standards – I believe that we should use this version, although I've included the ACS version (which has many more categories) for reference. Note that the OMB standards also include changing "Alaskan" to "Alaska Native", which I have incorporated below.

To be clear, I've highlighted the version of each question that we propose to use in the GRFP survey. Please let me know if you have any questions or if you'd like for us to send this information in another format.

Thanks,

Jake

Subject: last few points from OMB

Hi Everyone,

Just two little comments from OMB which I believe NORC folks can fix easily.

If you cannot find the references mentioned, please let us know.

As soon as you can turn it around, please send it back to us and we'll return it to OMB.

I can almost taste closure...

Thanks,

Carol

FROM OMB

We are happy with the changes made. However, there are two issues that remain in the survey instrument:

- Question G4 on the demographic section uses the wrong race format. There should not be a "two or more" category, and the prompt should comply with the OMB standard.
- Question G10- recommend changing the disability questions to match the prompt and answer categories on the American Community Survey, which provides a much more reliable measure of disability.

Thanks,

Thanks, Gisele. It's a lot to review -- if we were to meet early next week (Monday or Tuesday) would that give you enough time back in the office to review everything? I'm fine with meeting on the 15th if not.

Thanks again,

Jake

Jake,

This is great. I look forward to reviewing the documents. So far, the responses I have received are that the interviewees will be the members of the Inter-agency group. I agree that I should make the initial contact.

I'm sorry but Carol Stoel and I will be at the Council of Graduate Schools meeting in Arizona for the rest of this week. I can meet next week, Monday through Thursday. Is it best if we use our 3 pm Thursday time slot on Dec 15? If you want to meet earlier, I am available as early as Monday.

Subject: Next steps for GRFP federal program review

Hi Gisele, Carol, and Gilbert,

In order to keep things moving, I've attached a number of documents related to the federal program review that we'll need to finalize before moving forward. These are:

- 1) A draft interview protocol in the format we will be using to conduct interviews (program review interview protocol with intro edited.docx) - this shows the introduction and wrap-up as well as the question formulation and order that we plan to use. We will skip questions if we are able to find the relevant information beforehand, and I've made a preliminary attempt a prioritization that I would also like your feedback on. I've highlighted what I believe to be the most important questions in red (note that we may be answer some of the prioritized questions with publicly available information).
- 2) Drafts for two different emails to program officers (federal program review draft contact emails Dec 5.docx) - the first to be sent by Gisele, the second by me. The first email draft is a suggestion only, as it will be coming from NSF rather than NORC, but includes the type of information we would prefer be included (such as my contact information and a request for any program materials that may help us answer the questions prior to the interview).
- 3) The current list of programs to include (List of programs to be reviewed.docx), which has remained unchanged for a while now.
- 4) Two examples of information that we were able to find by reviewing program websites (Program Review Matrix--two examples, Nov 21 2011.docx) - Sheila filled out our matrix for the Department of Defense SMART program and the Department of Energy CSGF program. We note that there's a broad range in the amount of available information, and some programs have far less information available than these two, but that this should illustrate the types of information we are likely to be able to find prior to the interviews.

In addition to the attached documents, we'll need to discuss and decide upon a schedule for sending the initial contact email, conducting interviews, and delivering the report. I'd also like to briefly touch base about how we plan to move forward with selecting institutions for the site visits and institutional phone interview components that are coming up, so that we can start preparing for that work as well.

Would it be possible to meet later this week to discuss the attached documents and talk about our schedule moving forward?

Thanks,

Jake
