Welcome to the Foodborne Outbreak Online Database (FOOD) tool. The FOOD tool is a web-based platform for searching CDC's Foodborne Disease Outbreak Surveillance System database. FOOD provides access to national information and is intended to be used for limited descriptive summaries of outbreak data. Please see the FOOD FAQ and CDC's Foodborne Disease Outbreak Surveillance web site for more information.

Disclaimer: This site was developed by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) to make Foodborne Disease Outbreak Surveillance System data more available to the public and stakeholders. Data obtained from this tool are an extract of reported data and therefore should not be considered completely representative of the findings in investigations of all outbreaks reported. CDC uses more detailed information for its analyses of the causes and risk factors of foodborne disease outbreaks.
