

There is no model for the OPM Six-month manager survey because it is a very short survey with one purpose--to determine if manager who hired the individual six months earlier is satisfied with the hire they made. The OPM hiring process surveys are not measuring a website and do not fit a standard ACSI model; in particular, the six-month manager survey is a link only sent to managers who made a hire and the information gathered is being used to fulfill part of the hiring initiative set forth by the current administration as of June 2009.
