

Cost Adjustment to the Generic Clearance for the Collection of Qualitative Feedback on Agency Service Delivery

The $960,000 originally assigned as estimated cost for this ICR actually applied to internal cost to the Federal Trade Commission (“FTC”) over the course of 3 years’ clearance, not the cost to respondents. The FTC office for which this generic clearance has been sought does not anticipate seeking any user feedback that would cost participants money. Further, for more in-depth feedback, the FTC may even compensate participants for their time.

