

Public reporting burden for this collection of information is estimated to average 1 hour per response, including the time for reviewing instructions, searching existing data sources, gathering and maintaining the data needed, and completing and reviewing the collection of information. An agency may not conduct or sponsor, and a person is not required to respond to, a collection of information unless it displays a currently valid OMB control number. Send comments regarding this burden estimate or any other aspect of this collection of information, including suggestions for reducing this burden, to: NIH, Project Clearance Branch, 6705 Rockledge Drive, MSC 7974, Bethesda, MD 20892-7974, ATTN: PRA (0925-0648). Do not return the completed form to this address.

Brief round robin introductions.

1. Please review the results of the 2011 Delphi study. Look at the professional competencies identified as essential for librarians to conduct health information outreach. Do you think they are still essential today? Why or why not? (For clarification, professional competencies can be defined as measurable skills, degrees, and certifications.)
 - a. Do you have additional professional competencies to include?

2. What personal characteristics are needed for librarians to conduct health information outreach? (For clarification, personal characteristics can be defined as soft skills, attitudes, and values.)
 - a. Of the personal characteristics that were just named, which one do you think is the most important? And why? (Everyone will answer this question)

3. What can the Regional Medical Library and/or the National Library of Medicine do to help you develop or improve upon the professional competencies and personal characteristics we have discussed here today?

Thank you all for your time and participation.