How to Request Your Replacement SSA-1099/1042S

Internet Security Policy

Is it safe to transmit information to the Social Security Administration over the Internet?	SSA is taking all reasonable and proper measures, including encryption, to ensure that your personal information is disclosed only to you. However, the Internet is an open system and there is no absolute guarantee that others will not intercept the personal information you have entered or requested and decrypt it. Although this possibility is remote, it does exist.
What is encryption?	Encryption means that all information relating to you and your account is scrambled and locked with a mathematical key during the electronic transfer. Most browsers have an icon such as a key or a lock to represent an encrypted mode or session. A broken key, open lock, or no lock indicates that the session or mode is not encrypted.
Why is special software necessary to access the Internet application?	So that your online request can remain confidential, SSA uses a security protocol (method) called Secure Sockets Layer (SSL) for this application. You must use a Web browser that supports SSL. Netscape Navigator and Microsoft Internet Explorer are two browsers that support SSL. Using this security protocol, all information sent between your computer and our server is encrypted before being sent over the Internet.
Why SSL?	SSL provides a high level of security and is the security protocol supported by more browsers than any other. It is estimated that about 92% of Web browsers have an SSL browser available for their use.
I have the right software and I am trying to connect during your posted business hours, but I still cannot access your form. Why?	We have found that a number of business, government, and educational networks do not have their firewalls configured to allow passage of secure Web traffic. Check with your systems administrator to determine if this is the case at your site. If this is the case, you will not be able to access this application web site.

Close this window to return to the application.

Special Instructions for People Who Are Blind

The following instructions are for screen reader users like JAWS and Window-Eyes and Browser based readers like Home Page Reader.

In order to fill out this application you will be required to tab to each control and provide the requested information. Instructional text usually occurs at the beginning of each screen and can also be accessed by tabbing through the screen. Tab indices have also been added to allow for tabbing through text. Additionally, consistent headers have been set up to access questions and examples/instructions more easily. All headers that are at level 3 will have additional help text. Additionally, the titles of each page are header level 1, and they will have general help information.

Unless you have turned Javascript off in your browser, you will receive a warning after 25 minutes and you can extend your time on the page. After the third warning, you must move to another page, or your time will run out and your work on that page will be lost.

At the end of most screens there is a Continue button to allow the user to go to the next page and a Previous button to return to the prior page. The hotkey ALT + C is associated with the Continue button, ALT + P for the Previous button, and ALT + X for the Exit button. Press Alt + C or ALT + P and then press Enter to move forward or back, or ALT + X to exit.

Close this window to return to the application.
