J. You are being recruited for an interview where you will be interviewed on a range of social and health topics. This is to help our client finalize a questionnaire for a telephone survey. An interviewer will first ask you the questionnaire items, then will ask you follow-up questions on some of the items. You may be asked about certain terms or phrases used in the questionnaire, or to rephrase some questions in your own words. They will pay you $40 cash in appreciation of your time. Would you be comfortable with all of this?

Yes.....[ ]

No.....[ ]

Other information if needed:

- The questionnaire is a general social one – questions are on things like health, medical records, and some opinion questions.
- During the interview we are recruiting for, they don't want to answer any question, they don't have to give an answer. There are no right or wrong answers – our objective is to improve the way we ask questions.
- Any information they give will be kept confidential. No identifying information will be associated with the data they provide.
