District Only Section	FOR DISTRICT USE ONLY; District name	Ensures the form was filed in a specific district.
	FOR DISTRICT USE ONLY; Date received	Establishes when the form was received by the district. Forms must be on file before Reclamation irrigation water may be delivered to the landholder in question.
Landholder Information	Landholder (entity, organization, trust, public entity, farm operator) name	Identifies the person or entity whom the RRA form belongs; acreage limitation entitlements apply to landholders. This question is also asked at the top of every page of each form to identify each page in case subsequent pages are separated from other pages of the same landholder's form.
	Entity (farm operator) type, and how the entity is taxed by the Internal Revenue Service	Identifies the acreage limitation entitlements of the entity, and will help locate public records applicable to the entity (if necessary). Delineates the type of entity (corporation or partnership) and the corresponding acreage limitation entitlements in the case of such entities as limited liability companies.
	Marital status	Allows determination of the proper acreage limitation entitlements; marital status impacts entitlements under both the discretionary and prior law provisions.
	Spouse name	Spouse name helps support the basis for entitlements under the discretionary and prior law provisions, and assists with verification of the presence of all appropriate signatures on the RRA form.
	Widow's (surviving spouse's) landholding size	Establishes that a surviving prior law spouse is attributed with the proper entitlements and submits the proper RRA forms. A surviving spouse under the prior law provisions is allowed to retain the land held with the spouse prior to the spouse's death, up to the 320 acres allowed for a married prior law couple.
	Landholder (entity, organization, trust, public entity, farm operator) street address	Establishes landholder's proximity to the land and helps verify information concerning the operation of the land.
	Landholder (entity, organization, trust, public entity, farm operator) mailing address	Provides a more direct mode of contact if street address is different than mailing address (for example, a trustee, executor, or administrator that does not reside in proximity to the land in question).
	Name of trustee, executor, or administrator	Provides information on who should be submitting the Form 7-21TRUST and attribution if certain criteria are met.
	Telephone number	Provides a mode of direct contact with the landholder.
Contact name	Expedites inquiries, particularly in cases where the landholder is not a specific individual.
