Item Name B12CLNWRTH

Wording

Code	Label
1	Yes
0	No

Response Option

Help Text The question helps us understand how college graduates perceive the value of their undergraduate education relative to its costs.

Since you incurred student loan debt in order to pay for your education, you made a financial investment in that education. Do you think that the benefits you will gain from your college education are greater than the financial costs of paying for it? If so, answer "yes."

We want to know if you feel it was worthwhile, regardless of how much student loan debt you may have.

Question Name B12CCOBEN

Wording [If received UG loans] Do you think your undergraduate education was worth its financial cost, even if you received financial aid? [else] For this question, please think back to your

Help Text

Indicate "yes" for each benefit your employer offered, regardless of whether or not you used the benefit.

Retirement benefits are funds that you, your employer, or both can set aside to invest while you are working. In defined benefit plans (sometimes called pension plans), at the time of retirement, employees are provided a set amount based on salary or years of service. In defined contribution plans like a 401(k)/403(b), both employee and employer contribute specific amounts but the benefit available upon retirement is tied to investment earnings.

Tuition reimbursement is any monetary assistance that your employer contributes towards your educational costs.

Unpaid family leave provides employees with up to 12 weeks of unpaid, job-protected leave per year for the same reasons as paid family leave.

Paid family leave refers to support for employees who must take time off to care for a seriously ill family member or for a newly born child.

Help Text

Please indicate the setting of your employment during a typical workweek. If your job involves a combination of telecommuting and working in a specific location, please indicate the setting in which you work the most in a typical week.

Telecommuting involves working from a home and connecting electronically to a specific location.

Travel to different local sites involves travel to various locations within a small area, typically not requiring an overnight stay.

Travel out of town involves traveling to a specific location far enough away to require an overnight stay.

Question Name	B12FAFFCOST
Wording	Financial costs for college and graduate education can be significant, regardless of how you pay for your education. Whether you receive scholarships or grants, take out loans, or forego income by not working, all students incur some costs for their education, and these costs can affect decisions made after graduation. In what ways have your plans and decisions been affected by your educational costs?
