CDC—Overview

Major Goals

CDC is our nation's health protection agency, and our scientists and disease detectives work around the world to track diseases, research outbreaks, and respond to emergencies of all kinds. CDC works with partners around the country and world to:

- Protect Americans from infectious diseases
- Prevent the leading causes of disease, disability and death
- Protect Americans from natural and bioterrorism threats
- Monitor health and ensure laboratory excellence
- Keep Americans safe from environmental and workrelated hazard
- Ensure global disease protection

CDC's Mission

CDC works 24/7 keeping America safe from health, safety, and security threats, both foreign and domestic. Whether diseases start at home or abroad, are chronic or acute, curable or preventable, human error or deliberate attack, CDC fights disease and supports communities and citizens to do the same. CDC is the nation's health protection agency — saving lives, protecting people from health threats, and saving money through prevention.

CDC PRESENCE

Leadership

Thomas R. Frieden, MD, MPH, became Director of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and Administrator of the Agency for Toxic Substances and Disease Registry (ATSDR) in June 2009. Beginning his career with CDC in 1990, Dr. Frieden has been at the forefront of innovative efforts to prevent disease and disability around the world.

CDC's 2014 President's Budget Request | $6.6 Billion

FY 2014 Budget Request

Total overall funding level request for CDC and ATSDR is $11.3 billion, which is an increase of $70 million in overall funding and a decrease of $270 in program funding (which excludes mandatory programs with automatic increases) when compared to FY 2012. Compared to FY 2012, CDC's budget reflects:

- $432 million decrease in Budget Authority
- $54 million decrease from Prevention and Public Health Fund
- $246 million increase from Public Health Services Evaluation Funds
- $30 million decrease from Public Health and Social Services Emergency Funds

CDC remains committed to maximizing the impact of every dollar entrusted to the agency. The FY 2014 budget request maintains investments in key programs, while identifying strategic reductions that will allow CDC to advance our core public health mission in the most cost-effective way in this challenging fiscal environment.
