Your law school’s grading scale as last reported to the National Association for Law Placement (NALP) is listed here for context only. Information for non-NALP schools may have been taken from the law school’s internet postings. There may be differences between the information posted here and your actual standing due to the timing of the NALP report and variances between class years. DOJ reviewers defer to the class rank or percentile rankings entered by the applicant, when available, as they are generally more current.
