The respondent will select “Yes” or “No” and will have the option of providing comments in the text field. When the respondent clicks on the “SUBMIT” button, the feedback will be collected for later review via Excel file.

The “Complete our survey.” link will send the site visitor to the Financial Aid Toolkit’s full-site survey, which asks questions about the site as a whole (as opposed to this page feedback tile, which asks about the specific page the site visitor is currently reading). The full-site survey was previously approved.

1. What is NT4CM?

National Training for Counselors and Mentors (NT4CM) is a free, annual training program designed to provide counselors and mentors with information and materials that will help them more effectively advise students and their families about how to prepare financially for college.

The program was developed through a partnership of the following organizations: Federal Student Aid (FSA), National Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators (NASFAA), National Council of Higher Education Loan Programs (NCHELP), National Association for College Admission Counseling (NACAC), American School Counselor Association (ASCA), National College Access Network (NCAN), and Council for Opportunity in Education (COE).

2. Why was NT4CM established?

NT4CM recognizes the essential role that counselors and mentors play in delivering critical financial aid information to students—information that can often make the difference in a student's ability to attend college. Because these professionals play such a pivotal role and have limited time to devote to learning about financial aid, these one-day training sessions are intended to provide attendees with comprehensive up-to-date information regarding federal and state student aid programs. NT4CM is designed to maximize the resources available to counselors and mentors
